Head Coach: Jack Dahm (#10)
 Assistant Coaches: Zach Dillon (#42), Jim Brownlee (#38)
 Volunteer Coach: Brian Miller (#26)
 Director of Baseball Operations: Brian Furlong

Student-athletes throughout the country each year face the difficult task of selecting a University in which to pursue their college degree while reaching their full potential academically and athletically.

Selecting a university and baseball program that is the right fit for you is a very important decision. This decision is one that will have a great impact on both the near future as well as the many years that follow your collegiate experience and baseball career.

As you begin to compare all of your options, I strongly encourage you to consider The University of Iowa and our baseball program. Many of the same qualities that distinguish Iowa's academic reputation are the foundation we are building within the baseball program... a commitment to excellence, tradition of success, strong community support and first class facilities.

Iowa is an outstanding university with a worldwide reputation of academic excellence. The university features faculty and staff members who are committed to making your experience as a student-athlete a positive experience academically, not to mention Iowa City is a classic college town that prides itself on the success of the university in every regard.

We are also looking forward to regaining the past success that Iowa baseball has had in winning seven Big Ten Championships, qualifying for three NCAA Tournaments and one appearance in the College World Series. Our coaching staff is looking forward to taking the University of Iowa baseball program to new heights. We believe that we have an opportunity to become one of the finest baseball programs in the nation, while helping to produce graduates who are prepared for successful careers.

The athletics department at the University of Iowa has built its reputation on the sound foundation of academic, athletic and personal integrity. These qualities are present at the very top in University President, Sally Mason and Director of Athletics, Gary Barta are embraced by each member of our coaching and administrative staff.

It is our hope that you will continue to consider The University of Iowa as a place for your future. Our program offers incredible academic opportunities combined with a Big Ten athletic experience that is unparalleled. The University of Iowa and the Iowa City community will provide all the necessary ingredients to make your academic and athletic experiences as rewarding as possible.

We hope you will share in the excitement about The University of Iowa and our program.

IT'S GREAT TO BE A HAWKEYE!

OUTLOOK

For only the second time in University of Iowa head coach Jack Dahm's tenure, there has been a shake-up in the Hawkeye coaching staff, but Dahm sees it as an opportunity to inject some life into a young Iowa team.

"Change is good sometimes," said Dahm, who is entering his 10th season as head coach. "It's something that can shoot a little life into a program. We're going to be the same program, do a lot of the same things... we'll just have different coaches."

Zach Dillon rejoins the Hawkeyes as a full-time assistant after serving the 2012 season as a volunteer assistant at his alma mater Baylor. Dillon, who served as a volunteer assistant at Iowa in 2010 and 2011, will be the team's hitting coach.

"I am excited about what Zach has done for our hitters and catchers," said Dahm. "Zach has a tremendous baseball IQ and is an excellent teacher."

Veteran head coach Jim Brownlee joins the Hawkeyes as the interim pitching coach, returning to the college game after retiring at Illinois State in 2009. During his 30 years as a head coach, Brownlee won 854 games.

"Bringing in coach Brownlee is going to be a tremendous experience for our guys," said Dahm. "He's 67 years old, but his energy level is that of a 24-year old, and that will be infectious. I competed against him for a long time in the Missouri Valley Conference, and not only is he going to be good for our pitchers, but he'll be good for our position players and staff."

Even with a roster comprised of nearly all underclassmen, Dahm has been pleased with how the players have handled the change.

"I give credit to our players, we probably had the best fall that we've had in nine years, and yet we had a lot of adversity and change," said Dahm. "The way they handled that is exciting heading into the spring because you have to deal with adversity."

While 24 of the 33-man roster are freshmen and sophomores, Dahm says the Hawkeyes have strong seniors to turn to for leadership.

"We're a very young team with some very experienced seniors," said Dahm, who is four wins shy of 500 for his career. "I like the mix of our program right now. We have really competitive and driven guys. There are going to be some ups and downs, but by the end of the season, I think you're going to see a competitive team that will make a push at the Big Ten championship."

MATT DERMODY
SENIOR

STARTING PITCHING

With two-thirds of its weekend rotation returning, Dahm sees the Hawkeyes' pitching staff as the team's strength in 2013. Senior Matt Dermody and sophomore Sasha Kuebel return as co-No. 1 starters, while the final rotation spot is up for grabs between sophomore lefty Andrew Hedrick and freshman right hander Calvin Mathews.

"We haven't decided the order of who we're going to be throwing in what spot," said Dahm. "That's a good option because we believe we have guys that can go out and win on Friday, Saturday and Sunday."

Dermody returns for his fourth year in the Iowa starting rotation after finishing 1-7 and posting a 4.50 ERA over 76 innings as a junior. The Norwalk, Iowa, native was drafted for the third time in 2012 in the 23rd round by the Arizona Diamondbacks.

"We didn't throw Matt a lot during the fall, but he threw very well," said Dahm. "He's a guy that has as many starts in the Big Ten as just about anybody in this league. I believe he's going to be a steady, consistent starter for us this season."

Dermody has started 34 games and made 38 appearances during his first three seasons as a Hawkeye. He is 8-15 with a 4.98 ERA over 197 innings. The southpaw has 160 strikeouts to 65 walks and has limited opposing batters to a .276 average.

Kuebel returns after earning Louisville Slugger Freshman All-America, second team All-Big Ten and unanimous All-Big Ten freshman team honors in 2012. The St. Louis, Mo., native made 13 starts, finishing with a 6-0 record and a 2.67 ERA, the seventh best ERA in the Big Ten and tops among league freshman. Kuebel tossed 87.2 innings, notching 36 strikeouts while allowing only 15 walks.

"Sasha looked very good this fall, and he has himself refocused," said Dahm. "He worked hard in the weight room, and we expect some great things from him this spring."

Hedrick, a 6-foot-1 left hander from Ankeny, Iowa, was a midweek starter for the Hawkeyes as a freshman, finishing with a 2-2 record and a 5.46 ERA over 31.1 innings. Hedrick struck out 24 batters and allowed 17 walks in 12 appearances. During the summer, Hedrick was a Northwoods League All-Star selection.

"Andrew has a great arm and could develop into a power pitcher," said Dahm. "He has a good breaking ball and change-up; he just needs to pound the strike zone more consistently. He's going to throw a lot of innings for us this season."

Mathews, a 6-foot-4, 200-pound right-handed hurler from Bloomfield, Iowa, could provide the team with a power pitcher from the right side. The 2012 Iowa Gatorade Player of the Year and Iowa High School Coaches Association Baseball Player of the Year went 12-1 with a 0.51 ERA as a senior. He struck out 158 batters to just two walks in 82.2 innings pitched.

"Calvin had one of the best high school careers in the history of the state of Iowa," said Dahm. "He's a power pitcher that has great command. It's very rare that you see a young player throwing 89-92 miles per hour and only walk 5-6 guys in a two-year period."

"He's going to be an outstanding pitcher in our program. Even if he's not in the starting rotation, he's going to be a big part of our pitching staff, not only this year, but in the future."

A talented trio of Hawkeyes will compete to land the closer's role, but regardless of who wins the job between senior Andrew Hanse and sophomores Nick Hibbing and Taylor Kaufman, the team will have solid end-of-game options.

Add seniors Ricky Sandquist and Ben Bergman, sophomores Aaron Smit and Ryan Rumpf and freshmen Josh Martsching, Jared Mandel, Jackson Raimo, Quinten Conrad and Jack Richmond, and Dahm has a strong nucleus of options coming in from the bullpen.

Hanse, a 6-foot-6 right hander, emerged over the summer and during fall ball. During a 6-3 victory at Creighton in October, the Marion, Iowa, native struck out seven of the nine batters he faced. Last season, Hanse appeared in 17 games, finishing with a 1-0 record and a 5.40 ERA with 20 strikeouts in 20 innings.

"The pitcher that has made the most progress is Andrew," said Dahm. "He continues to work hard and get stronger. He's throwing really hard and has gotten on top of his slider, which is a great strikeout pitch for him. He's going to be in there late in the game."

Hibbing joined the Hawkeyes in 2012 after being selected in the 42nd round of the 2011 Major League Draft by the Pittsburgh Pirates. As a freshman, the Lindenhurst, Ill., native appeared in 14 games, posting a 1-2 record with a 6.23 ERA. He had two saves and struck out 13 batters in 21.2 innings.

"Nick is a guy that has the mentality to be a closer, he wants to be our closer," said Dahm. "He throws hard, has some deception, and has a power breaking ball and change-up. The key for him will be pounding the zone."

Dahm calls Kaufman one of the most important pieces to the Hawkeye pitching staff. The 6-foot-2 sophomore earned All-Big Ten freshman team honors in 2011 after going 3-0 with a 3.38 ERA in 22 appearances. He struck out 25 batters to issuing 11 free passes over 26.2 innings. In Big Ten play, Kaufman was 2-0 with a 2.92 ERA in 12 appearances. He finished eight games, the second most on the team.

"Taylor is a very important part of our bullpen, as we like his versatility," said Dahm. "He did a great job last year in being a guy that could go 3-4 innings or finish a game off. You can use him in a number of roles, so he's one of the most valuable pitchers on our team."

Sandquist, a 2012 Academic All-Big Ten honoree, made seven appearances as a junior with two starts. He went 0-1 with an 8.79 ERA and had nine strikeouts in 14.1 innings.

"We're going to get Ricky to throw with a little more tilt in his midsection to create a little more life to his ball," said Dahm. "Ricky can be a starter, but we'd like to keep him in the bullpen. He throws hard and has the versatility to be a swing man for us this spring."

Bergman and Smit could see their roles increase in 2013 after seeing limited action a season ago. Bergman posted a 0.00 ERA over 1.2 innings as a junior, while Smit did not see any game action.

"Ben had a great fall and has worked hard over the past year and a half," said Dahm. "He's a big lefty that can be used in various roles, whether it's a midweek starter, trying to get lefties out or being a swing guy in the middle of the game. I expect him to throw a lot, and I really like where he's at between the ears."

"Aaron hasn't had a chance to pitch much, but we've dropped him down to being a submariner. He is really getting a feel for throwing underneath. He can cause some guys some fits and be tough on left-handed hitting."

Rumpf made five appearances as a freshman, going 1-0 with a 0.00 ERA. The North Liberty, Iowa, native allowed five hits in 4.1 innings with four strikeouts.

"Ryan is a competitive right-handed pitcher that we can use in any role," said Dahm. "He has a very good breaking ball and is working on his change-up to make him a three-pitch pitcher. He's a different look than our other righties, so we expect him to be a valuable guy coming out of the pen."

Martsching, a two-way player, will provide Iowa with another right-handed arm. The Bloomfield, Iowa, native went 13-0 on the hill as a senior with a 0.90 ERA and 112 strikeouts.

"Josh is a strike thrower," said Dahm. "Josh is a position player that throws hard, in the upper 80s. He has a nice breaking ball, throws strikes and fields his position. He's a guy that will get a lot of innings for us in various roles."

Mandel and Raimo are a pair of walk-ons that could work themselves into game action in 2013. Mandel joined the Hawkeyes out of Mundelein, Ill., where he was an all-conference and all-area selection as a senior after going 11-1 with a 1.17 ERA. Raimo, a member of the Army ROTC, was a conference all-star and large area school all-star in Albany, N.Y., after going 5-1 with one save and a 1.29 ERA over 43.1 innings pitched.

"Jared is a small lefty that knows how to pitch," said Dahm. "He's a competitive kid with a great attitude. Once he understands how he's going to get college guys out, he can cause fits for some guys."

"Jackson is a hard-working kid that has put a lot of hours in between ROTC and baseball. As hard of a worker that he is and the type of mentality he has, I wouldn't count Jackson out of getting some opportunities this season."

Richmond, a lefty out of Evanston, Ill., is working his way back from a shoulder injury which forced him to miss his senior season at Loyola Academy. Conrad, meanwhile, missed the fall season due to injury but has been cleared for spring competition.

"Jack is a talented left-handed pitcher that pitched at a high level for Top Tier, a summer team out of Chicago," said Dahm. "He has thrown a lot of big games, and usually won. This could be a potential redshirt year for him."

"Quinten is cleared 100 percent for this spring, so we're excited to see what he can do. He's a versatile guy that has a great arm. He's a strike thrower that throws in the mid-80s."

CATCHERS

A healthy Dan Sheppard means good things for the Hawkeyes behind the plate.

"He has the old gap back in his step and his confidence is back," said Bahr. "Coming back from Tommy John surgery two years ago, Dan wasn't 100 percent last year. It wasn't until the last 2-3 weeks that you could see he was getting his confidence back."

Sheppard played in 32 games as a junior with 25 starts — 22 at catcher, two in left and one as the designated hitter. He hit .234 with 13 runs and 10 RBIs, while reaping eight doubles and earning eight free passes. The Des Moines, Iowa, native, who was drafted by the Chicago Cubs coming out of high school, had 147 putouts and had a perfect 1.000 fielding percentage in Big Ten play.

"Dan is going to be our catcher," said Bahr. "He's a very talented receiver, very accurate thrower, handles our pitching staff and is one of the hardest working guys in the program. I look forward to him being healthy, and we expect big things from Dan."

Keith Brand returns with the most rewarding starts under his belt, as he made a team-high 23 behind the plate as a sophomore. The Northbrook, Ill., native hit .368 with runners in scoring position and finished with a .211 average, 10 runs and 10 RBIs for the year.

"He's a great compliment to the guys we have," said Bahr. "He'll get his innings. Not only is he very good behind the plate, but he's one of the toughest outs in our program. He's a guy we wouldn't have any problem with having him come up in the late innings with a winning run on base. He'll find a way to get it done."

Freshman Blake Hickman will push for playing time behind the plate after joining the Hawkeyes as a highly-touted recruit. The Chicago, Ill., native was selected in the 26th round of the 2012 Major League Baseball Draft by the Chicago Cubs and was ranked 212th nationally and as the 21st best catcher.

"He had an outstanding fall," said Bahr. "One of the things that has been a great benefit to Blake is Dan Sheppard and Keith Brand. Blake sees the work ethic it takes to not only be a good catcher, but a top-flight Division I catcher. He's going to be in our lineup a lot. If he's not catching, we're working him at first base, left field or designated hitter. He has a very bright future in this program."

Senior transfer Trevor Kanyen, sophomore Anthony Torres, redshirt freshman Alec Linbarger and freshman Jimmy ... will provide depth at the position.

INFIELD

The Hawkeyes will be young, but talented in the infield, as three sophomores are penciled in as starters.

For the second consecutive year, it will be a Jake & Nick duo up the middle, as sophomores Jake Yacovich and Jake Mangler will anchor the shortstop and second base positions. Sophomore Nick Day moved from the outfield to the hot corner during the fall, and a platoon of juniors Bryon Niedbalski and Trevor Kenyon and freshman Blake Hickman will man first base.

"The two Jakes up the middle have a chance to be an outstanding double-play combination," said Dahm. "We expect a lot of these guys and to be a lot more vocal. Their athleticism up the middle is going to be a great benefit to this team."

Yacovich appeared in 46 games as a true freshman with 42 starts in 2012. The Des Moines, Iowa, native hit .292, recording 47 hits with eight doubles, 24 RBIs and 24 runs scored. The shortstop also had one triple, 57 total bases, and ranked first in the Big Ten and 22nd nationally with 14 sacrifice bunts.

"Blake had an outstanding freshman season, and I liked the progress and leadership he displayed," said Dahm. "He's a clutch, confident player, and we feel we have a great player there because he continues to work."

Mangler played 37 games, while making 32 starts at second base in 2012. The Clinton, Iowa, native hit .287 with 37 hits, 20 runs and 14 RBIs. He had 10 multi-hit games, including two three-hit contests. During the summer, Mangler was a Prospects League All-Star with the Hannibal Caymen.

"Mangler is one of the most explosive guys we have in the program," said Dahm. "When we made the move to make Jake the starting second baseman, it changed the look of our team. He got a lot of clutch hits and made tough plays. He's a very consistent player that can develop into a great defender."

Day appeared in 16 games as a freshman with eight starts, seven in right field and one in left. He hit .217 with five hits in 23 at-bats to go along with five runs and five RBIs.

"Nick used his summer to get better and improved in all areas of the game," said Dahm. "He had a great fall, is a great athlete and can play anywhere on the field. His reactions at third base are outstanding. We're looking forward to seeing Nick develop into a solid and consistent third baseman. Offensively, he has power and speed, now it's about making the adjustment to college hitting."

Niedbalski played in 32 games with 15 starts as a sophomore, finishing with a .228 batting average with 13 hits, nine runs and 10 RBIs. The St. Louis, Mo., native had the game-tying pinch-hit RBI double in the 5-4 win at Minnesota on April 29. Niedbalski is a .245 career hitter, collecting 39 hits in 159 at-bats.

"Bryon has gotten quite a few at-bats as a freshman and sophomore," said Dahm. "He's in the best shape of his life and is moving his feet much better. He can be a big, strong guy that can be a presence for us in the middle of our lineup."

Hickman and Kenyon are two catchers that could see time at first base.

"With his athleticism at first base, Blake can be very good for us there, he just hasn't played there much," said Dahm. "Trevor has great foot on him and if he wants to develop as a first baseman, he can be pretty good."

Dahm views Kenyon as a player that could be an RBI producer in the middle of the order.

"He is a big, strong guy that gives us a presence in the middle of our lineup," said Dahm. "We're looking forward to seeing what Trevor can do from an offensive standpoint. He had a couple of stretches this fall where you couldn't get him out. He could be an RBI machine for us, which we've been looking for in this program."

As a catcher at Black Hawk College, Kenyon was a two-time all-conference selection and second team all-regional honoree after hitting .307 with seven home runs and 58 RBIs as a sophomore. He broke the school's single season and career doubles record.

Sophomore Anthony Ferris and freshmen Devin Pickett will be utility players for the team, while freshmen Josh Martischke, Nick Roscetti and Henry Franklin will add additional infield depth.

Tomas, a catcher by trade, hit .391 with nine hits in 23 at-bats with six runs and three RBIs as a freshman. During the summer, the San Diego, Calif., native was an All-Southern California Collegiate Baseball League team selection.

"He can work behind the plate, but he can play anywhere in the infield," said Bohm. "It's nice the versatility Anthony gives us, and he has embraced it. He is one feisty hitter that is a competitive guy. He loves crunch time... he's that guy that isn't in our starting lineup right now, but he's going to play a lot of positions."

Pickett, a freshman from Pocomoke, Md., is a two-time Chicago White Sox Double Duty Classic selection, and a Tawlings first team all-region and Minns Times all-area honoree. He slugged .400 with 20 runs and 10 RBIs as a junior.

"Devin has a lot of versatility in that he can play anywhere on the field except for catcher," said Bohm. "He can really hit. At some point in his career you're going to see him be one of the hotter hitters in our program. He will get some at-bats as the year progresses, and I think you'll see him compete for playing time and be a main cog for a long time."

Mortenson, a left-handed hitting infielder, hit .504 with three home runs and 50 RBIs as a senior at Davis County High School. He was a four-time all-conference, four-time all-district and two-time all-state honoree.

"Josh is a very good left-handed hitting infielder," said Bohm. "He gives us another left-handed bat off the bench and can play all four infield positions. He'll get some opportunities from an offensive standpoint."

Rosetti was named the State Journal Register Male Athlete of the Year as a senior at Williamsville High School in Illinois, and he was a three-time all-conference and all-area honoree and a first team all-state selection. As a senior, Rosetti batted .525 with 62 hits, 54 runs, 29 RBIs, 22 steals and a .573 on-base percentage.

"Nick was having a great fall before bringing up his knee, which required surgery," said Bohm. "I am eager to see how he comes back. He has a lot of versatility, runs well and has excellent arm strength."

Punkas, a catcher/utility player, was an all-conference, senior conference all-star and all-area honoree as a senior after hitting .365 with 30 RBIs and nine doubles at Maine South High School in Park Ridge, Ill.

"We gave Jimmy an opportunity this fall, and I knew within the first week that he was going to make the team," said Bohm. "He's very competitive and has a huge heart and work ethic. I expect him to be a very good player for us in his career, and he'll work at first base and behind the plate this season."

OUTFIELD

The Hawkeyes also can inter mix senior Dan Sheppard, sophomore Taylor Kaufman along with freshmen Blake Hickman, Devin Pickett and John Barrett.

Goodman appeared in 35 games as a freshman with 22 starts, 14 of which came in center and seven in left field. The Apple Valley, Minn., native hit .192 with 14 hits, while scoring 11 runs and knocking in five RBIs.

"Kris has made huge strides since last season in every phase of the game," said Dahm. "He's a plus outfielder, has great range and a plus arm. To have him playing in left field, we're going to cover a lot of ground. Offensively, he keeps getting better and better and his work ethic is off the charts. He can bunt, hit-and-run and steal bases. I am looking forward to him having a solid sophomore season."

Toole, the younger brother of former Hawkeye standout Justin Toole, was one of the team's most consistent players in 2012. The Council Bluffs, Iowa, native appeared in 44 games with 35 starts, finishing with a .283 batting average with 36 hits, 13 RBIs and 11 runs scored. Toole, who stole seven bases, also had a perfect fielding percentage.

"Toole is one of the most consistent players I have been around," said Dahm. "He does everything well and works hard. All around, he is one of the best players we have in the program."

He will be our centerfielder and leadoff guy, and we expect him to set the table. He has matured as a player and leadoff hitter and understands the position of seeing pitches and getting on base. I think he's going to be one of the best outfielders in our league this year."

Zeutenhorst endured a tough 2012, as he hit .159 with 14 hits in 88 at-bats. During his first season as a Hawkeye, the Sheldon, Iowa, native batted .261 with 15 RBIs and six multi-hit and four multi-RBI games. Dahm sees 2013 as a bounce back year for Zeutenhorst.

"Taylor had a rough year as a sophomore, but I love his attitude right now between the ears," said Dahm. "He took that as a challenge. He had a solid freshman year and had high expectations last year and struggled. Instead of digging a hole and climbing in it, he looked in the mirror and went to work."

"He's a 6-foot-5 athletic kid that has power and can run. He has all the tools... he just needs to play the game more."

Kaufman is another option in the outfield, but Dahm says the Hawkeyes need to be cautious with Kaufman as a position player because of his value as a pitcher.

"Taylor is one of our best offensive players, but the biggest thing is we have to be smart with his arm," said Dahm. "He can develop into a middle of the order hitter than can play first or the outfield. He has one of the best swings on our team."

Barrett is being mentioned to the outfield because of his athleticism. He is a utility player from Moline, Ill.

"John is athletic, can run, and we're looking forward to see how he develops as an outfielder," said Dahm. "He made tremendous strides over the winter, and we look forward to seeing the progress he has made this spring."

SCHEDULE

The 2013 Iowa schedule will be challenging with 12 games against NCAA Tournament foes, but the Hawkeyes will get a lift with 24 games being contested in Iowa City at Duane Banks Field.

"It is a very demanding schedule, but one that our program can handle this year," said Dahm. "We open with five of our first six games against teams that were in the NCAA Tournament last year and those teams return some quality players."

"We will also play nine games against teams from the Big 12, which will be good for us. If you can go out and have success in that non-conference schedule and gain momentum heading into Big Ten play, that could be a big boost for us."

Iowa opens the season with a three-game series at NCAA qualifier Austin Peay before heading to Corpus Christi, Texas, for the 2013 Kleberg Bank College Classic on Feb. 22-24. Iowa begins tournament play against Oklahoma before facing New Mexico and host Texas A&M Corpus Christi. The Sooners went 42-25 in 2012 and were an NCAA Super Regional squad, while the Lobos played in the NCAA Regionals.

The Hawkeyes open the month of March in Lawrence, Kan., at the Millard Management Jayhawk Classic. Iowa will play two games apiece against Kansas and Eastern Michigan. On March 8-10, Iowa heads to Port Charlotte, Fla., for the Snowbird Classic, where it faces Maine, Georgetown and West Virginia.

Big Ten play begins March 22-24 in Evanston, Ill., as Iowa squares off against Northwestern.

"The Big Ten is so balanced," said Dahm. "That's one of the things that is most difficult. Every weekend is a grind, so unfortunately, we beat ourselves up."

Dahm says Indiana and Nebraska have a lot returning, but he says the conference race is wide open.

"Last year everybody knew going in that Purdue was the team to beat," he said. "This year there isn't that one team. I think any of the teams can win the championship. The questions are going to be who is playing the best baseball when we get into Big Ten play, and who's going to be able to maintain it."

Iowa hosts Indiana, Nebraska, Minnesota and Michigan State at Duane Banks Field. The Hawkeyes go on the road to face Northwestern, Penn State, Michigan and Purdue. The top six teams will advance to the 2013 Big Ten Tournament at Target Field in Minneapolis.

"We have a strong schedule, one that our guys will enjoy playing," said Dahm. "It's not as much about whom you are playing against, but it's about how you play."

"I am more concerned about our guys going out and playing good, solid baseball. We're going to play great competition that will get us ready. If we go out and play good, solid baseball, we will have an opportunity to win."

JACK DAHM HEAD COACH 10TH YEAR

In nine years as the University of Iowa's head baseball coach, Jack Dahm has established the Hawkeyes as Big Ten contenders and is ready to lead the UI baseball program to new heights with his commitment to excellence.

Since taking over the Hawkeyes in July of 2003, Dahm has sparked resurgence in the Iowa program, having success Hawkeye fans hadn't seen in years. Dahm has guided the team to 30 more wins two of the last six seasons.

In 2009, Coach Dahm surpassed Biletschultz for the third-most victorious coach in Iowa history at Drake Banks Field on March 21 in a victory over Western Illinois. Also in 2009, Dahm picked up his 400th win as a Division I coach at Northern Iowa on April 23 and reached his 124th victory as an Iowa head coach against Ohio State May 16, which surpassed Scott Breghamer (1998-03) for fourth in Iowa coaching victories. In 2012, Dahm earned his 200th victory at Iowa as the Hawkeyes won at Indiana (4-0) on March 31.

In Dahm's 19 years as a head coach, he has produced 24 first team all-conference performers, nine freshman All-Americans and two All-Americans. In his nine years at Iowa, Dahm has coached 35 All-Big Ten selections, including eight first teamers. Iowa had only four first team selections in the previous 14 years before his arrival in Iowa City.

Three Hawkeyes garnered all-league honors in 2012. Senior Phil Koppler earned second team All-Big Ten honors along with freshman starting pitcher Sasha Kuebel. Kuebel and fellow left-handed pitcher Taylor Kaufman were named to the Big Ten's all-freshman squad. Kuebel was also named a Louisville Slugger Freshman All-American after finishing 6-0 with a 2.67 ERA.

The Hawkeyes finished a game out of a four-way tie for sixth place and the final spot in the Big Ten Tournament in 2012. Iowa closed the season strong, taking 2-of-3 from No. 13 Purdue. The Hawkeyes were the only team all season to win a conference series against the Boilermakers. Iowa defeated Purdue in back-to-back games, earning its first win over a ranked foe since downing No. 25 Louisville in 2009.

While 17 freshmen saw action in 2012, Dahm coached two Hawkeye seniors to the top of the record books. Brett McQuinn closed his career first in singles (196) and second in hits (242). Jarred Hippen, a two-time second team All-Big Ten selection under Dahm, owns the Iowa record for innings pitched (351.2) and ranks second in strikeouts behind Allen Roth with 244.

Four Hawkeyes garnered All-Big Ten honors in 2011. Hippen earned second team honors for the second consecutive year. Catcher Bryan Glaser and centerfield Trevor Willis both earned third team accolades. Additionally, Taylor Zentgraf, a freshman outfielder, was named to the Big Ten's all-freshman squad.

In 2011, Dahm guided his pitching staff to one of the best seasons on the mound in Hawkeye history. Iowa registered an ERA of 4.22.

the lowest since 1988 (4.14). Hippen earned second team all-conference honors for the second consecutive year. Starting lefty Matt Barnaby and Hippen, ranked first and third in the Big Ten, respectively, in strikeouts during the regular season. Hippen nearly threw a perfect game against Minnesota, allowing only one hit in the complete game. In addition, newcomers Tim Fungman and Patrick Lala enjoyed successful first seasons. Fungman finished in the top 10 in the Big Ten in numerous categories, including ERA, opposing batting average, games finished, hits allowed, runs allowed and walks allowed.

Academic success, Dahn's teams have had success, as well. Iowa's baseball team boasted an NCAA Graduation Success Rate of 95, which is 25 points above the national average for NCAA Division I baseball programs. During his Iowa tenure, the head coach has seen 75 players named academic All-Big Ten, including a team-record 12 players in 2011. Iowa had eight student-athletes recognized in 2010 and seven in 2012. That is the best nine-year record in the history of the program. Additionally, shortstop Kurt Lee was named Academic All-District first team in 2011.

Iowa was crowned with a long, winning 11 of its final 14 contests and eventually finishing 30-28. Dahn coached the Hawkeyes to road series victories at Michigan and Penn State and home sets against Ohio State, Illinois and Purdue. Furthermore, Iowa ultimately won all five meetings against the Badgers in 2010, sweeping a three-game regular-season set and winning two in the league tournament.

The Hawkeyes finished third in the conference and ultimately placed second at the Big Ten Tournament. The tournament berth was the third under Dahn and only the eighth in school history. The Hawkeyes won three games at the tournament, which was the first time an Iowa team had won since 1990. The runner-up finish in the conference tournament tied the school's highest finish, which was accomplished once before (1983).

Four Hawkeyes earned all-conference honors in 2010. Kurtis Muller and Hippen each received second team accolades, while Fungman was named to the third team. Freshman Mike Corbett garnered all-freshman honors. Muller and Hippen also garnered Big Ten All-Tournament accolades.

Dahn and his coaching staff are excellent recruiters and prepare their players for the professional ranks. Sixteen Hawkeyes were drafted from various seasons under Dahn, including eight incoming recruits. Relievers Zach Robertson, Patrick Schatz, Steve Turnbull, Kyle Holm and Mike Schumpp were all picked up, as well as Kurtis Muller, Matt Barnaby, Ben Shoppard, Taylor Zentgraf, Patrick Lala, Derrick Lovelace, Sasha Kurbel, Mick Hibbing, Mike McQuillan, Blake Hickman and Ryan Borucki. Additionally, Justin Toole signed a free agent contract with the Cleveland Indians. Forty-six of Dahn's players have been selected in the MLB Draft, while four have gone on to play in the major leagues.

Dahn secured a highly-ranked recruiting class for 2012. Iowa's class was ranked 45th-best nationally and third in the Big Ten by Perfect Game.

On the heels of the 2010 season, the Hawkeyes' 2011 recruiting class was once again rated the best in the Big Ten by Perfect Game USA. The class was ranked fourth-best in the Midwest and 48th-best nationally.

Iowa's 2010 recruiting class was ranked the 40th-best class according to Perfect Game USA. Iowa's ranking was the highest of any Big Ten team.

In 2008, the Hawkeyes broke two school records. Iowa stole 130 bases, which are the most in a single-season by a Hawkeye team; the previous record of 124 was set by the 1981 team. Five Hawkeyes had 14 or more stolen bags, 13 recorded at least one and the team was led by senior Caleb Cury who pilfered 45 thefts.

The Hawkeyes also set a record with a team total of 86 hit-by-pitches, breaking the previous record of 83, which was set in 2007. Huff, Muller and Cury led the Hawkeyes and 15 members of the squad were at least one pitch.

Three Hawkeyes were named All-Big Ten, including Curry and Hoef earning second team accolades while Toole earned third team laurels. Curry and Toole earned All-Midwest Regional honors. Additionally, Curry and Hoef were drafted.

In 2007, Iowa took a major step forward by recording its best record in 14 years with a 31-25 mark. The Hawkeyes placed fourth in the Big Ten Conference 2007-13 and earned their second trip to the conference tournament in three years—this after going just once the previous 15 years.

Five Hawkeyes were named All-Big Ten, including Travis Sweet and Jason White earning first team accolades. Mike Erdman and Curry were recognized on the second team, while Toole earned third team laurels. Sweet, White and Toole earned All-Midwest Regional honors. Additionally, Sweet, White and Dusty Hapfelner, along with recruit Zach Kenyon were drafted.

In the classroom, Iowa was awarded the 2007 NCAA Public Recognition award, placing them in the top 30 baseball programs, academically. Catcher Ben Geelen was named to the ESPN the Magazine Academic All-District VII team. In the Big Ten, seven Hawkeyes earned academic all-league honors.

In 2006, the Hawkeyes continued to build the program, on-and-off the field. On the field highlights included capturing the Austin Peay Tournament and the Louisiana Cajun Classic. Off the field, the Hawkeyes continued to shine in the classroom with 10 players earning Academic All-Big Ten, giving them 26 recipients the first three years under Dahm. Iowa has averaged over eight academic all-conference honorees during his eight-year coaching tenure.

Individually, closer Tim Gudex earned first-team All-Big Ten honors for the second consecutive year while starting pitcher Mike Sewell was named to the second team.

After the season, a pair of Hawkeyes signed professional baseball contracts. Gudex was signed by the Texas Rangers, while Sewell was signed by the Chicago Cubs.

In his second season, Dahm led the Hawkeyes to their best season since 1990. Iowa posted a 28-29 mark, a 10-15 record in conference play, and 10 wins in the history of the program. Dahm's squad finished third in the league (just one game out of first place) and advanced to the Big Ten Championship Series.

The Hawkeyes won five four-game series during Big Ten play, including road series at Big Ten champion Illinois and Michigan, home wins against Minnesota, Penn State and Indiana. The team's success was a reflection of the individual awards the Hawkeyes earned, as Iowa had five players named All-Big Ten. Gudex was named to the first team, Price was on the second team, while catcher Kris Waller, Jason White and Andy Lytle were all third team honorees. Lytle was also a second team All-Midwest Region pick by American Baseball Coaches Association.

Four of Dahm's players signed professional contracts after the 2005 season. Lytle (25th round - Cleveland Indians) and Waller (41st round - Chicago Sox) were both selected in the MLB Draft, while Nate Yoho (Milwaukee Brewers) and Jesse Brunell (Colorado Rockies) signed free agent contracts.

In his first year, Dahm helped guide both Nathan Johnson and Yoho to All-Big Ten honors. Johnson was named to the first team, while Yoho earned his way to the second team.

On the recruiting front, Dahm and his staff gained praise nationally for their first class. It was ranked in the top-50 by Jerry Ford, the National Director of Perfect Game U.S.A., and No. 44 by Collegiate Baseball, who also named it the top class in the Big Ten. Dahm and the Hawkeyes made their mark on the in-state recruiting trail when they linked six of the top eight high school prospects in Iowa, which included the top four pitching prospects.

In year two, another highly talented class was powered by Bahm and his assistant coaches. The class featured two of the top players in the Midwest - Nori and Wes Freis.

Since his arrival in 2003, Coach Bahm has not only been building a foundation on the field, but off as well.

"In order to build a consistent program we must have a solid foundation and that starts with quality student-athletes who are willing to make personal sacrifices, on and off the field," said Bahm. "We must also develop a level of trust and belief in each other and in the program. If we can build that foundation the players on the field will take care of itself."

Players have been busy giving back to the community by helping raise money for breast cancer and helping the Iowa Children's Museum at the Crystal Ball dinner. The Hawkeyes are also involved with the UI's Bounce Marathon, Iowa Children's Miracle Network, UI Children's Hospital and Iowa City Neighborhood Centers.

Bahm was also instrumental in starting the Corridor Classic. The event helped raise over $300,000 for the American Diabetes Association in its five years. It was one of the biggest ADA fundraisers in Iowa history. Iowa and Northern Iowa competed in the Classic the first five years, while the Hawkeyes later played Case College in the Classic.

Other new and exciting events have been added to the schedule. Four years ago, the Hawkeyes bottled the Triple-A Iowa Cubs at Principal Park in Des Moines for the fourth time in five years.

Bahm also created the annual Load-Off Dinner and Steak Fry in February, which serves to kick-off the season and get fans excited about Iowa baseball. The Load-Off/Steak Fry Dinner has also featured Hall of Famer Ferguson Jenkins, baseball legend Tommy Lasorda, former Cubs General Manager Jim Hendry, New York Yankees manager Joe Girardi, MLB umpire Tim McClelland, along with Iowa Cubs owner and Pulitzer Prize-winning journalist Michael Gartner.

Before coming to Iowa City, Bahm spent 10 years as a member of the Creighton Bluejays baseball program. He left the Bluejays as the winningest coach in school history, having compiled 283 wins against 276 losses in 10 seasons as head coach.

Bahm arrived at Creighton in 1986 to play under Hendry and spent four years as a student-athlete (1986-89). In 1990, Bahm accepted a position as a graduate assistant under Hendry and spent four years helping build Creighton into a Missouri Valley Conference power.

In 1991, Bahm was promoted to a full-time assistant as he helped the Bluejays reach the College World Series. That Creighton squad ended the season as the second-highest hitting club in the nation, batting .355. The team's 60 triples in 1991 led the nation and remain a school record.

In October of 1993, Bahm was hired as Creighton's head coach, becoming the youngest head coach in Division I at the age of 25. For the next 10 years, five of Bahm's teams finished in the top three of the Missouri Valley Conference.

In 1999, Bahm earned the first of two Missouri Valley Conference Coach of the Year honors as the Bluejays advanced to the NCAA Tournament for the first time in the Bahm era. Creighton posted 30 wins that season before being eliminated from the South Bend Regional.

In 2000, Bahm guided the Bluejays to their second consecutive NCAA Regional appearance at the Arizona State Regional in Tempe, Ariz., after finishing with a 30-23 record. During the season, Bahm led Craighton into the national spotlight as they posted at No. 15 in the Collegiate Baseball poll and were ranked in the top 25 of the Baseball Weekly/ESPN Coaches' Poll and Baseball America.

Bahm earned his second Coach of the Year honor in 2002 when the Bluejays finished the season 30-24 against one of the nation's toughest schedules. Victories over nationally ranked Nebraska, Notre Dame and Wichita State were overshadowed by the team's best-ever season in the Missouri Valley Conference. Despite having a lineup top-heavy with underclassmen, Craighton finished second in MVC play with a 21-10 record.

Bahm entered Craighton as a highly recruited infielder in 1985. As a player, Bahm shared the dugout with former Major Leaguers Mike Heathcote, Bar Jones, Scott Servais, Don Smith and Scott Stashovick. He graduated from Craighton with a bachelor's degree in business management in 1989.

Bahm played a huge role in the planning, designing and fund raising for the $3.5 million Craighton Sports Complex. The Kiny Gaughan Pavilion baseball facility is one of the finest indoor baseball complexes in the country.

Bahm's teams at Craighton not only had success on the field, but in the classroom as well. During his tenure, players were named to 32 spots on the Missouri Valley Conference Scholar-Athlete teams, 10 Verizon Academic All-District honors and three Verizon Academic All-Americans.

Bahm has also been active in the advancement of college baseball by being a member of many national committees. He was a 10-year member on the College World Series Board of Directors and served on the American Baseball Coaches Association Change of Season Committee. He was also a part of the NCAA Division I Regional Advisory Committee and was an on-site director of the NCAA Yes Baseball Clinic for 11 years.

Bahm and his wife, Lynn, have three children - sons Casey and Tyler and daughter Lindsey. He was born Jan. 19, 1967, in Shokie, Illinois.

ZACH DILLON ASSISTANT COACH THIRD YEAR

Zach Dillon is entering his third season with the University of Iowa Baseball team, first as a full-time assistant coach.

Dillon, who served as a volunteer assistant with the Hawkeyes in 2010 and 2011, will be Iowa's hitting coach, handle the catchers and coach third base.

Dillon returns to Iowa City after serving as a volunteer assistant at Baylor in 2012. He helped guide the Bears to a Super Regional appearance, finishing 40-17 overall, one win shy of a school record and a trip to Omaha for the College World Series. Baylor climbed to No. 1 in the nation for the first time during the season and earned the No. 4 NCAA seed after claiming the Big 12 regular season championship.

Dillon coached a school-record 11 players to All-Big 12 recognition in 2012, including six first team selections and Big 12 Player of the Year Josh Luby and Big 12 Newcomer of the Year Nathan Dr. Four Bear players garnered Louisville Slugger All-America recognition -- the most ever by a Big 12 team -- and a total of six players were selected in the 2012 Major League Baseball Draft.

During his first two seasons in Iowa City, Dillon helped guide Iowa to 50 victories, and he coached six players to All-Big Ten recognition. The Hawkeyes also had 20 Academic All-Big Ten honorees, including a school-record 12 in 2011.

In 2010, Iowa won 11 of its final 14 games to finish 30-26 overall. The Hawkeyes finished third in the Big Ten and was runner-up in the Big Ten Tournament, which tied the highest finish in school history. The tournament victories were the first for the program since 1998.

Dillon was selected by the Baltimore Orioles in the 20th Round (555th overall) of the 2006 amateur entry draft as a catcher. In 2007, he led the Frederick Keys (Class A-Advanced) to the Carolina League title and the following spring he was a Major League Spring Training invitee.

Dillon played collegiately at Baylor from 2003-06, where he helped the Bears to three NCAA Tournament appearances, two NCAA Super Regionals and a College World Series berth. Dillon was the 2006 Big 12 Player of the Year and was a two-time All-Big 12, two-time All-NCAA regional and two-time First Team All-Big 12 selection. He was also a semifinalist for the Johnny Bench Award in 2006.

As a senior, Dillon had a school-record .421 batting average with a .496 on-base percentage in Big 12 play. He led the Big 12 in batting average, walks and ranked nationally in walks (53, 44th) and walks per game (.848, 17th). He finished his career as a .307 hitter with 124 RBIs and 115 walks.

In the classroom, Dillon was a four-time academic all-conference selection, an ESPN the Magazine first team academic All-American and a 10-time Big 12 Conference Commissioner's Honor Roll recipient. He was also the recipient of spring post-graduate scholarship in 2009.

Dillon prepped at Bowling Catholic (Iowa) High School, leading the team to the 1999 and 2001 Iowa Class 4B state championship. He was a two-time first team all-state and three-time first team all-district selection and was the captain of the 2001 state championship football and baseball teams.

Dillon graduated Magna Cum Laude from Baylor with a bachelor's degree in education in 2005. He later earned his master's degree in education and sports management in 2008.

Dillon has a 1-year-old son, Hayden.

JIM BROWNLEE
ASSISTANT COACH
FIRST YEAR

Jim Brownlee is in his first season as the interim pitching coach for the University of Iowa baseball program. Brownlee is a coaching veteran, spending 30 years as the head coach at Illinois State and Evansville.

Brownlee, who amassed an 854-817-5 record as the head coach at Evansville and Illinois State, is the father of former Hawkeye assistant Ryan Brownlee, who was named head coach at Western Illinois in September.

During his last coaching stint at Illinois State, Brownlee won 157 games over seven seasons. In 2009 — his final season — Brownlee led the Redbirds to a 25-23 overall record and an appearance in the Missouri Valley Conference Tournament. He had five players named to the All-MVC team, the most for the program since 2006.

Prior to coaching at Illinois State, Brownlee spent 23 seasons at the helm of the Evansville baseball program, where he posted 16 winning seasons. After going 7-37-1 during his first season in 1980, the following season, the Aces won 26 games, more wins than the previous three seasons combined. From 1983 to 1985, Brownlee was a three-time Heartland Conference Coach of the Year, leading Evansville to league titles all three seasons.

In 1988, Brownlee had one of the best seasons of his career, earning Mid-East Coach of the Year honors by his peers and the Diamond Sports Company District Coach of the Year after leading the Aces to a 44-28 record and an NCAA Tournament victory over No. 1 Arizona State. Brownlee coached Evansville pitcher Andy Benes to NCAA Player of the Year honors, and he was the No. 1 overall pick in Major League Baseball's Amateur Draft by the San Diego Padres.

Brownlee then coached Evansville to national prominence in the Midwestern Collegiate Conference (now the Horizon League). In 1991, the Aces won the MCC regular season with a 48-18-1 record, and in 1993, he led the team to a 43-18 mark, the second-most victories in school history. Brownlee coached Aaron Giles, the Academic All-America Player of the Year at shortstop in 1993.

In 1995, Evansville joined the Missouri Valley Conference, and Brownlee continued to succeed, posting winning records in five of his eight seasons in the league. The 2000 season saw Brownlee lead the Aces to a 41-22 record and an NCAA Tournament bid, which earned him Valley Coach of the Year honors.

In his 14 seasons in the Valley, Brownlee produced 15 first-team all-conference players and 22 Valley Scholar-Athlete first team selections.

After his playing career ended and having served a stint in the military, Brownlee became an assistant baseball coach at Illinois State from 1975-76 and served as head coach for the Galesburg team in the Central Illinois Collegiate League (CICL) before taking the job at Evansville in 1980.

Brownlee is a member of the Illinois State Athletics Hall of Fame, being inducted as a member of the 1969 team. He was also inducted into the Evansville Athletics Hall of Fame in February 2005 after he earned more victories than any other coach in Evansville history.

Brownlee earned his bachelor's degree from Illinois State in 1970 and his master's degree in 1974. He and his wife, Candy, are the parents of two sons — Tim and Ryan — both of whom played for their father at Evansville.

BRIAN MILLER
VOLUNTEER ASSISTANT COACH
SECOND YEAR

Brian Miller completed his first season as volunteer assistant coach at the University of Iowa in 2012.

Miller has worked as a baseball coach since 1992, including serving as the head baseball coach at Mid-Prairie High School from 2000 to 2010. He served as the Kirkwood Community College pitching coach from 2006 to 2011. Miller also coached the Iowa City High School sophomore baseball team from 1993 to 1999 and was an assistant baseball coach at Iowa City Regina High School in 1992.

Miller was named the district coach of the year six times (2000, 2001, 2004, 2006, 2007, 2009), the Iowa High School Association All-Star Coach twice (2005, 2009) and the A.B.C.A. Regional Coach of the Year in 2006 and the Iowa state Coach of the Year in 2004. He led Mid-Prairie to its first ever EHC conference title in 2000 in his first year as head coach. In 2001, Miller led Mid-Prairie to the state semi-finals for the first time in school history. He also led the school to the state semi-finals in 2004, 2006 and 2007, including a state championship in 2004.

BRIAN FURLONG
DIRECTOR OF BASEBALL OPERATIONS
FIRST YEAR

Former Hawkeye Brian Furlong is in his first season as Iowa's director of baseball operations. Furlong previously served as the owner/director of Elite Baseball Performance.

In the newly-created role, Furlong will serve as the director of the Iowa Baseball Academy, while serving as the team's video and travel coordinator and assisting with on-campus recruiting.

"We're very excited to have Brian as a part of our staff," said UI head coach Jack Dahm at the time of his hiring. "He will have a big impact into our program. He's an Iowa City native that finished his career at the University of Iowa. He has tremendous connections throughout the state with the work he's done in the baseball community."

Furlong has owned or operated baseball academies since graduating from the University of Iowa.

Furlong played for the Hawkeyes in 2004 and 2005. He also competed at Iowa State in 2001, Truman College in 2002 and Creighton under Dahm, in 2003.

Furlong was recognized academically in all three conferences. He was a Big 12 Scholar Athlete at Iowa State, Mountain West Conference Scholar Athlete at Creighton and an Academic All-Big Ten honoree with the Hawkeyes and Coaches' Award in 2005.

As a prep at Iowa City High, Furlong was an elite all-state selection as a senior. He was also a two-time all-state, all-district and all-conference selection. As a senior, he went 7-1 on the mound with a school record 0.37 ERA in guiding the Little Hawks to a 31-10 record.

Furlong graduated from the University of Iowa with a bachelor's degree in political science with an emphasis in American institutions. He also named minors in economics and communication studies, while receiving a certificate in entrepreneurship.

GARY BARTA ATHLETIC DIRECTOR

Now in his seventh year as director of athletics at the University of Iowa and his 26th year in athletic administration, Gary Barta manages an athletics program that continues to gain momentum in two key areas — on the playing field and in the classroom — while enhancing the infrastructure that will serve as the foundation for future successes.

Academically, the UI's federal graduation rate of 74 percent (for student-athletes who enrolled in 2004-05) ties the best ever posted by UI athletics. That mark was a 13-point increase over the previous year and was nine points above the national average; UI student-athletes will establish another record when the latest figures are released in October. Last fall, the NCAA announced that all 24 of Iowa's teams exceeded the Academic Progress Rate (APR) benchmark for the fourth straight year.

Figures released last fall, Iowa's score of 86 percent in the NCAA's "Graduation Success Rate" or GSR, also matched a school record. Five different women's teams at the UI posted perfect 100 GSR scores: Iowa's GSR in football (83), men's (73) and women's (100) basketball all ranked above the national average for their respective sports.

Athletically, Hawkeye teams enjoyed another outstanding year in 2011-12. A significant number of Iowa's 24 programs reached postseason play. The Iowa football team reached bowl eligibility for the 11th straight season and competing in a bowl game for the fourth straight year and 10th time in the last 18 seasons. The women's basketball program participated in the NCAA Tournament for a fifth straight season and men's basketball returned to postseason competition under second-year coach Fran McCaffery, recording an 84-75 win over Dayton in front of 13,190 re-energized fans in Carver-Hawkeye Arena.

The Hawkeye wrestling program, led by national champion Matt McDonough, made another run at a national title before placing third. The men's golf team placed 22nd nationally in its third appearance in the NCAA Championships in the last four seasons. Additionally, the UI men's track and field placed 23rd in the nation and the UI's men's swimming and diving program placed 26th at its national championship.

Iowa's field hockey team advanced to the NCAA Tournament and the Hawkeye softball team placed second in the Big Ten. Between the men's and women's track and field teams, 34 student-athletes competed at the NCAA Championships and 34 members of the UI men's and women's swimming and diving teams qualified for the Olympic Trials.

And, while the UI athletics department continues to earn high marks in integrity, academic excellence, and athletic performances, Barta also continues to oversee critical improvements and additions to the facilities used by the UI's talented student-athletes while maintaining a balanced and ever-growing operations budget that continues to be self-sustaining.

In addition to the competitive success the Hawkeyes recorded in 2011-12, the UI once again experienced tremendous success at the turnstiles. Iowa has sold every seat in historic Kinnick Stadium in each of the past two seasons, ranking 21st in national attendance both years. The UI will enter the 2012 home football season with all seven home games sold out once again and boats waiting lots for not only season tickets, but also the premium seating options available inside the Paul W. Brockman Press Box.

Attendance at home games of the UI's men's basketball team has climbed more than 30 percent the last two seasons. Iowa's attendance of 13,190 for a first round NIT game in Carver-Hawkeye Arena ranked as the highest attended game of the 2012 tournament.

The UI wrestling team set another national attendance record by averaging 9,814 fans per home meet in 2011-12, leading the nation in attendance for the sixth straight year. The economic impact of the 2012 U.S. Olympic Wrestling Team Trials, hosted by the UI in Carver-Hawkeye Arena, exceeded $5 million, according to survey results released by the Iowa City/Coralville Area Convention and Visitors Bureau.

Attendance at home games of the UI's women's basketball games also remained strong as the program once again ranked among national leaders in 2011-12. The UI also registered increases in attendance at home volleyball, soccer, field hockey, women's gymnastics, men's gymnastics, softball and baseball events.

Since 2006, the Hawkeyes have invested more than $150 million in new and renovated athletic facilities. Upgrades include the restoration of historic Kinnick Stadium and Carver-Hawkeye Arena, as well as a new state-of-the-art aquatics center, a boathouse facility for the UI rowing program and an indoor and outdoor tennis complex. Another $60 million worth of improvements are underway in the form of the two phase football training center project and an indoor golf performance facility.

In late summer 2011, the UI completed a $47 million revitalization of Carver-Hawkeye Arena. That project included the construction of a practice facility for men's and women's basketball and volleyball, a 10,000-square-foot strength training and cardiovascular center, and an expansion to the Dan Gable Wrestling Complex, in addition to new locker room and support facilities for men's and women's basketball, wrestling and volleyball programs, and office space for the majority of Iowa administrative and coaching staffs.

The Carver project included the installation of a statue of Gable at the facility's main entrance. That project was completed in time for the thousands of fans of the sport of wrestling to enjoy while attending the 2012 USA Wrestling Olympic Team Trials.

Phase I of a two-phase project for the UI football program was completed in August, 2012. Phase I includes the new indoor practice facility for Coach Kirk Ferentz' program that has competed on 10 bowl games over the past 11 seasons. Phase II includes construction of the new Iowa Football Operations Center, which will include new team locker rooms, team meeting rooms, athletic medical training space, video operations, and coaches offices and meeting rooms. Funded entirely through private support and revenue generated by the UI Athletics Department, the project is an important next phase of the master facilities plan for Hawkeye football. It will be constructed adjacent to the Ron and Margaret Kanyon Outdoor Practice Facility, immediately west of Kinnick Stadium and will be connected to the new indoor practice facility.

The 2010-11 season marked the first for the men's and women's swimming and diving teams in the UI's $69 million Campus Recreation and Wellness Center. The Hawkeyes hosted the 2012 Big Ten Championships and the UI men's squad responded by earning its highest Big Ten finish in 15 seasons. Another of the latest additions to the facilities available to the UI's student-athletes is the Varsity Golf Complex practice facility for the men's and women's golf programs. Located at the southern edge of the UI's award-winning Finkbine Golf Course, the facility is expected to be completed for use this winter. It will provide the Hawkeyes a state-of-the-art facility that offers the opportunity for year-round training and practice.

Barta's involvement in the UI campus community extends beyond intercollegiate athletics. He is a member of the President's Cabinet, comprised of vice presidents and other campus leaders, that provide counsel to UI President Sally Mason. That group was instrumental in the UI's response to record-setting flooding that besieged the campus and the Iowa City and Conville community in June 2008.

Barta also represents the UI and the Hawkeyes at the conference and national level. During his first six years at the UI, he has participated in the creation and implementation of the Big Ten Network, the expansion of the Big Ten Conference and realignment of athletics conferences nationally, and the Big Ten's postseason bowl game agreements that were successfully implemented in 2010.

Nationally, Barta remains active in the Division IA Athletics Directors Association, the National Association of College Directors of Athletics, and currently serves on the NCAA Football Committee Board of Directors.

Barta often suggests to his staff that "Hope is not a strategy," which is why he is currently overseeing a comprehensive review of the strategic plan for the UI Athletics Department and has worked with the UI's leadership on a long-term financial plan. Another favorite saying of his is, "Vision without resources is irrelevant." Over the course of his career he has been directly involved in raising hundreds of millions of dollars in support of intercollegiate athletics. This has remained a primary focus during his tenure at Iowa, where private support for the Hawkeyes continues to flourish despite a challenging economic environment.

Under Barta's leadership — and thanks to a talented athletics development staff — the UI has seen year-over-year improvement in annual giving in spite of the difficult economic environment. In addition, under Barta's direction, the UI generated more than $20 million of philanthropic and corporate sponsorship support for the revitalization of Carver-Hawkeye Arena and has already surpassed that level of support for the current football projects. The UI also generated the $2 million in private support announced July 2012 for the Hawkeyes' new practice facility for its men's and women's golf programs.

As the director of athletics at the University of Wyoming for three years, several different UW coaches were named Mountain West Conference Coach of the Year. He also spearheaded a fund-raising effort that netted the Cowboy athletics program $11 million in private support and $11 million in matching state funds.

As the senior associate athletics director at the University of Washington, his tenure was marked by the "Student-Athlete," was a participant in the design, construction and for destination of several new facilities, including Bank of America Arena and the Dempsey Indoor Practice Facility. In addition, he doubled the amount of annual private support received by UW. Barta also managed the development of external relations division, a task that included corporate sponsorship and public relations.

His responsibilities at Washington expanded over time to include hiring of coaches, fundraising efforts, and the day-in-day oversight of several Huskie sport teams.

The roots of his development experience extend to his first two positions: director of athletics development and external relations at the University of Northern Iowa and director of development at his alma mater, North Dakota State University.

Barta earned a bachelor of science degree in mass communication and broadcast journalism from SDSU in 1987. He was an option quarterback for Bison football squads that won the Division II NCAA National Championship in 1983, 1985 and 1986.

Barta, and his wife, Connie, have a son, Luke (14) and a daughter, Corinne (12), who live in Minneapolis.

IOWA CONTINUES TO BUILD FOR SUCCESS

The UI Department of Athletics is under the direction of Gary Barta and is regarded as one of the top intercollegiate programs in the nation. Once again, the Hawkeyes enjoyed success both athletically and academically in 2011-12.

Academically, the UI's federal graduation rate of 74 percent (for student-athletes who enrolled in 2004-05) was the best ever posted by UI athletics. That mark was a 13-point increase over the previous year and was nine points above the national average; UI student-athletes will establish another record when the latest figures are released in October. Last fall, the NCAA confirmed that all 24 of Iowa's teams exceeded the Academic Progress Rate (APR) benchmark for the fourth straight year.

Athletically, Hawkeye teams enjoyed another outstanding year in 2011-12. A significant number of Iowa's 24 programs reached postseason play. The Iowa football team reached bowl eligibility for the 11th straight season and competed in a bowl game for the fourth straight year and 10th time in the last 11 seasons. The women's basketball program participated in the NCAA Tournament for a fifth straight season and men's basketball returned to postseason competition under second-year coach Fran McCaffery.

In late summer 2011, the UI completed a $47 million revitalization of Carver-Hawkeye Arena. That project included the construction of a practice facility for men's and women's basketball and volleyball, a 10,000-square-foot strength training and cardiovascular center, and an expansion to the Ben Gable Wrestling Complex, in addition to new locker room and support facilities for men's and women's basketball, wrestling and volleyball programs, and office space for the majority of Iowa administrative and coaching staffs.

Phase I of a two-phase project for the UI football program was completed in August, 2012. Phase I includes the new indoor practice facility for Coach Kirk Ferentz' program that has competed on 10 bowl games over the past 11 seasons. Phase II includes construction of the new Iowa Football Operations Center, which will include new team locker rooms, team meeting rooms, athletic medical training space, video operations, and coaches offices and meeting rooms. Funded entirely through private support and revenue generated by the UI Athletics Department, the project is an important next phase of the major facilities plan for Hawkeye football.

IOWA WRESTLING

The Hawkeye wrestling team — the national attendance leader in each of the last six seasons — continued its dominance on the mat, finishing third at the NCAA Championships. Six Hawkeyes earned All-America accolades in 2012, including two-time national champion Matt McDonough. Iowa has claimed 23 national championships and 34 Big Ten titles in its 102-year history.

IOWA FOOTBALL

Iowa football continued its stellar play, finishing in the upper division of the Big Ten for the 10th time in the last 11 years. The Hawkeyes reached bowl eligibility for the 11th straight season and competed in the postseason for the fourth straight year.

IOWA WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

The women's basketball team won its final eight games of the regular season to finish tied for second in the Big Ten and earn an at-large bid into the NCAA Tournament. Head coach Lim Bhader has now led Iowa to five-straight NCAA Tournament appearances.

IOWA MEN'S TRACK AND FIELD

The men's track and field team recorded a pair of top 25 finishes at the NCAA Indoor and Outdoor Championships. The Hawkeyes crowned four Big Ten champions and nine All-Americans, including Erik Sevinski, who placed second in the 800 meters at the NCAA Championships.

IOWA MEN'S GOLF

Head coach Matt Hunsien led the Hawkeyes to their third NCAA Championships appearance in the last four years. Iowa collected another top-25 national finish and multiple individuals earned honors throughout the season.

IOWA MEN'S BASKETBALL

Second-year head coach Fran McCaffery led the Hawkeyes to 18 wins and an NIT bid a year ago. Iowa improved by seven wins from 2011 to 2012, as McCaffery continued to demonstrate his ability to rebuild programs and reenergize the fan base — Iowa's attendance increased for the second straight year and ranked No. 31 nationally.

IOWA SWIMMING AND DIVING

The Iowa men's swimming and diving team posted its best finish in 17 years, placing fifth in the Big Ten and 26th at the NCAA Championships. The Hawkeye won a pair of Big Ten relay titles and five student-athletes went on to garner honorable mention All-America accolades. On the women's team, freshman Becky Staughton became the first UI swimmer to earn Big Ten Freshman of the Year honors, and she was the first Hawkeye women's swimmer to earn All-America honors since 2005.

"The University of Iowa grew on me beyond an athletic standpoint, branching to different areas such as the friendly community, the opportunity to study at a Big Ten university as prestigious as Iowa, and the personal preference of playing in the Midwest. The baseball program at Iowa offers everything that I looked for in my recruitment process, namely the level of competition everyone plays at, and the great coaching that surrounds me. I am thankful and very pleased with my decision in choosing Iowa and look forward to learning and upholding the tradition the university as a whole has maintained on an athletic and academic level."

SASHA KUBIEL - So. - St. Louis, Mo.

"I chose the University of Iowa because I've really comfortable with the coaches throughout the recruiting process. I like the way Iowa runs the baseball program and the values that we have. Our coaches care about us as a person, not just more than just with baseball as well. It is more than just baseball here, we are learning to become men too. I have had a great time attending Iowa and I believe it is a great place for me to graduate from and get a degree."

TYLER ZUTENHOFF - Junior - Sheldon, Iowa

I chose Iowa because I felt the coaches here wanted me the most. They showed the most interest and they were there from day one. When I came on my official visit I loved the Iowa environment. The students and the campus, it was all amazing. All the older guys told me I could play a big role as a freshman and from there I wanted to be that guy to help Iowa make it to the Big Ten tournament that Omaha. Coach Dahm became a person I could go to and I know that this is the place where I belong. Also, education played a big part. In four years having a degree from the University of Iowa will be an advantage in the work field. If baseball doesn't work out, I know I've made the right decision and I feel Iowa will help my game improve, and I will become a better person at the end."

BLANE HICKMAN - Freshman - Chicago, Ill.

"I chose Iowa because I felt comfortable with the coaches and the staff around the Iowa baseball program as a whole. I also loved the campus before coming on my visit with my brother playing at Iowa as well. Seeing my brother (Justin Toole) succeed and get better aided my decision because I know I would improve and learn new skills from the coaches. Iowa just felt right for me."

ERIC TOOLE - So. - Council Bluffs, Iowa

"I think the University of Iowa is special because being from Iowa and growing up in this state, I have been a Hawkeye fan my whole life. Now, actually being a part of it through the baseball program is awesome and I wouldn't want to be anywhere else. The positives about Iowa are being surrounded by great people from coaches, to teammates, to students and also being a part of a top notch college that will guide you to success no matter what route you choose."

IANET DEMANDY - Senior - Normal, Iowa

"There is nothing like being a Hawkeye and not only representing the University of Iowa but the whole state of Iowa. I chose to come to Iowa because of the great baseball opportunities I would have, as well as an excellent education that I would receive. Enjoy standing up to the field everyday with my teammates knowing that that is where I belong."

DAN SHEPPARD - Senior - Downers Grove, Ill.

With the NCAA limiting the number of scholarships a team can give, a successful walk-on program is essential for any team hoping to compete at a high level. Nowhere is this more evident than at the University of Iowa, where head coach Jack Dahm has a history of developing walk-on players.

In his career, Dahm has had nine players begin as walk-ons and end up playing professional baseball.

Most recently, Iowa has had a couple former walk-ons earn Big Ten accolades and break school records. Right-fielder Ryan Burant was recognized on the All-Big Ten first team in 2009. Third-baseman Zach McCool was honored on the All-Big Ten third team in 2011, while closer Kevin Lee slammed the door on the opposition in 2010, accumulating a single-season school record 13 saves.

Former walk-on Tim Gader (2005-06) enjoyed unprecedented success as the Hawkeye closer. He was a two-time first team All-Big Ten honoree after leading the league in conference wins (7), saves (6), ERA (1.11), appearances (19), games in relief (19), games finished (19) and opponent's batting average (.205). He also led the conference in overall ERA at 2.56.

Seven years ago, former walk-on Austin Seward turned in a career season earning second team All-Big Ten accolades.

Former Hawkeyes Andrew Porter and Kyle Miller were walk-ons. In 2007, Miller posted a career season, batting .337 and collecting 20 hits in 34 games. In 2008, he led the team in sacrifice bunts (9) and was in the top five on the team in at bats (205), runs batted in (44), hit by pitch (8), stolen bases (20) and games played (55).

In Porter's junior campaign he made 13 appearances, striking out 11 batters. As a senior, he led the team in games finished (20), appearances (30) and saves (4).

"Joining the University of Iowa baseball team as a walk-on gives a young player the chance to grow and mature as an athlete, as well as an opportunity to get an outstanding education," Dahm said. "The entire coaching staff is committed to the development of our walk-on program, because there is no question that in order to build a championship caliber program, you need a program that allows kids to develop and contribute to the success of the team."

"Coming out of high school, I had no D-I scholarship offers, but Coach Dahm gave me a walk-on chance, which was an easy choice. It was a chance to play baseball and attend a school with an outstanding education. Unfortunately, I told myself I would want to attend a school that had great academics. I was wrong. I was wrong about the school. Luckily, baseball ended up working out, and it just so happened that my first year winning still gave me a great chance to prove myself. I was treated like a scholarship player, both on and off the field. When Coach Dahm informed me I was going to be receiving scholarship money, I was thrilled. To me, it was a great honor. The fact that I was going to be able to play in the Big Ten was a great honor. I made my first start in the Big Ten, and I was better than those who were coming in. I was a walk-on, and I was able to prove to all the coaches and fans that I was here."

NEW STATE-OF-THE-ART PLAYING SURFACE IN 2011

Duane Banks Field has a completely new state-of-the-art playing surface. For the first time since the field was laid down three decades ago, the entire playing surface was refurbished in 2011. According to head coach Jack Dahm, about 10-12 years ago the infield was re-sodded and a magic mix dirt was installed. But, as far as reworking the entire field, this is the first time the field has undergone a major facelift. A new drainage system has also been installed and new hitting cages are in place.

Not only is a new state-of-the-art playing surface being installed, but Dahm noted other minor changes to the field.

"The field looks a little different than in the past," said Dahm. "We moved home plate five feet forward to help with the grading, the drainage and the slopes. They also lowered the field about one foot."

In the fall of 2001, the Iowa baseball field was re-named The Duane Banks Baseball Field in honor of the Hawkeyes' former head coach. Banks, the winningest coach in Iowa history, served as Iowa's head baseball coach from 1970-1997.

Banks Field was originally built in 1974. The 3,500-seat stadium had dimensions of 330 feet down the lines, 375 in the power alleys and 400 to centerfield before this year. That has decreased slightly with the facelift of the playing surface. As a whole, the complex is one of the top facilities in the Big Ten and the Midwest.

Every year the UI Department of Athletics makes upgrades to Banks Field. The baseball program is very excited about the installation of 500 stadium chair back seats behind home plate that have allowed the Hawkeyes to sell season tickets for the first time in history.

Four years ago, Iowa resealed and painted the inside of the stadium along with replacing all of the old wooden bleachers with aluminum bleachers.

Other upgrades include spacious pro-style dugouts with new bleachers and protective netting. There is also brand new padding behind home plate and all new added padding in the outfield from left center to right center.

In 2002, former Hawkeye and current Major Leaguer donated $245,000 to fund the installation of lights at Banks Field. The donation was made by a current professional athlete to Iowa.

The infield was re-designed following the 1995 season. The infield surface and ten-foot fences were added to the outfield. The outfield were restructured and the hitter's background was replaced.

The complex features locker rooms for both teams and Iowa's clubhouse was expanded, giving the Hawkeyes one of the best college baseball environments in the nation.

Prior to the 1996 season a Bulwicks score-board system was installed. In addition to providing spectators with pertinent game information, the system also has a marquee that is capable of displaying player information.

A new press box was built in 1989 and renovated in 2002. It can accommodate several radio stations and up-to 70 media members.

During inclement weather, the Hawkeyes can move to the Bubble, Iowa's indoor facility located right next to Banks Field. The Bubble is a 120-yard expanse of state-of-the-art "Prestige XT" artificial surface that includes four full-size batting cages and five raised pitching mounds. The bubble gives the Hawkeyes a top-notch facility to train in year-round.

Duane Banks, following 28 years as Iowa's head baseball coach retired from coaching following the 1997 season.

Banks was inducted into the 2011 UI Hall of Fame. Banks led the Hawkeyes to its only College World Series appearance in 1972 and won Big Ten Championships in 1972 and 1990, as well as a share of the Big Ten crown in 1974. In 1981, Banks led Iowa to 44 wins, the most in school history. He earned Big Ten Conference and District Coach of the Year honors in 1990 and was inducted into the American Baseball Coaches Hall of Fame in 1991. Banks posted a career record of 901-585-4, while coaching six All-Americans, 31 all-Big Ten selections, 33 Academic All-Americans and 57 players who signed professional contracts. In the fall of 2001, Iowa's home field was officially designated as the Duane Banks Baseball Field.

In 1990, Banks led Iowa to a Big Ten title and to the NCAA playoffs for the first time since 1975. The 1990 squad won a record 22 Big Ten games and placed a record-tying five players (Tim Coons, John Deland, Chris Halder, Keith Hanson and Brian Wajack) on the all-Big Ten squad.

Many of his former Hawkeyes have earned pro contracts and five—Mike Boddicker, Cal Eldred, Jim Sundberg, Tim Coons and Jeff Jones—made it to the major leagues. Tim Coons was the eighth pick overall in 1990 draft, marking the second straight season Banks produced a first round draft choice. Eldred was selected in the first round by Milwaukee in 1989. Fifty-seven of Banks' former players signed pro contracts.

Banks served as an assistant coach for half a season at Iowa. The Hawkeyes won their final 27 games under his direction. Duane's next club won 28 games, an Iowa record, in his first full campaign (1971).

Banks' 1972 team won Big Ten and District Four Championships to earn a berth in the College World Series, claiming Iowa's first outright Big Ten title in 33 years. Duane Banks was named District Coach of the year.

Banks became Iowa's all-time winningest coach in 1985, passing Hall of Famer Vogel, who won 440 games in 35 years. He joined the Iowa staff as an assistant coach in 1969, after serving in the same capacity at Colorado State. He spent two seasons at Parsons (IA) College, compiling a 91-10 mark in 1967-68. He was an assistant coach at Parsons in 1966.

Banks is a past president of the American Baseball Coaches Association and has held a number of administrative posts in the ABCA. He has served as chairman of the NCAA Division I coaches and as a representative of District Four. A member of the Hall of Fame and the Legislative House committees, Banks is a past member of the ABCA Board of Directors.

Banks was active in international baseball through the United States Baseball Federation. He took an all-star team to Canada, Japan and Korea in 1986 and coached another squad on a trip to Venezuela.

Banks and his Iowa team went to Holland in 1984 and he was on the staff of the USA college all-star team that played all over the world in 1982. He took an Iowa team to Mexico in the mid-1970s. A native of Grand Junction, CO, Banks played baseball and basketball at Northern Colorado. He was all-league and all-district three times in baseball at Northern Colorado and played one year of professional baseball with the Atlanta Braves organization in 1964.

Banks attended Mesa (KJ) Junior College, received his bachelor's degree from Northern Colorado in 1965 and his master's degree from Colorado State in 1969.

Duane and his wife, Jeanette, have two sons, Scott and Kirk and a grandson Nile.

DUANE BANKS (50 years)

"Strength and conditioning is a very important part of our program and we put a big emphasis on it. We use our strength and conditioning not only to get bigger and faster but also for injury prevention."

JACK DAMM | HEAD COACH

Iowa baseball will work very hard to improve our game in the field by getting stronger and more explosive off of it, in the weight room and by improving fitness levels and techniques of speed, agility, and quickness. We will give ourselves the best chance to put the best team on the field by analyzing weaknesses and movement patterns of current players and minimizing down time due to injury. Along the way, we will attain championship level work habits and discipline. We truly believe that success is a combination of the right daily habits on and off the field.

We have four goals in our strength and conditioning program:

1) INCREASE ATHLETIC PERFORMANCE

- Improve your game with better speed and explosive power
- Throw and hit harder, run faster by developing a strong and explosive lower body and core.

2) DECREASE RATE OF INJURY

- Significantly reduce your risk of joint and tendon injuries
- Build the right strength and flexibility in the upper body to create not only better arm strength but healthier arms and shoulder.

3) INCREASE SELF-CONFIDENCE

- There is a certain confidence in knowing you have prepared yourself and given yourself a chance to be successful.

4) IMPROVE MENTAL TOUGHNESS

- We will not be distracted and will develop the ability to focus on the task at hand and not be deterred by every day highs and lows.

"Being a part of the strength and conditioning program has been one of the most beneficial aspects of my career at the University of Iowa. I have not only learned and used techniques that are specific to baseball, but also various exercises that I can take with me wherever I go. Coach Hammer has gotten me to where I am physically, through his intensity, knowledge of various lifts and techniques, and drive to help me and the team become stronger to be ready to play nine innings each day. Never have I been in as good of shape as I am now being apart of the University of Iowa strength and conditioning program."

Three seasons ago, the Iowa Baseball team moved into upgraded facilities at the University of Iowa Rec Building. The new facilities, include larger space, upgraded training and weight rooms, expanded equipment locker, spacious locker room, student-athlete lounge with flat screen televisions and hot and cold tubs.

"The Rec Building has a brand new, state-of-the-art, locker room, player lounge, weight room, equipment room and training room. It is located right next to Dume Banks Field and the new Indoor Practice Facility, so it is very convenient for the players."

"I am very proud of our players in the fact that they understand the importance of giving back to the community and especially to children. Community service is very important to our program to be able to give back to the community. I am impressed at all the activities our players do in the community on their own. I will be at events in the Iowa City community and people will say thank you to me because one of our players can also speak to their class or to a youth baseball team. The most impressive thing, to me, is that they are doing a lot of this on their own."

JACK DUTTM | HEAD COACH

The University of Iowa baseball team takes tremendous pride and enjoyment in its charity and community service activities.

Since Jack Dutt took over the program in 2004, the Hawkeyes have been very active in the Iowa City Community. Iowa players have been actively involved in helping the Iowa Children's Museum, University of Iowa Dance Marathon, the Ronald McDonald House and the University of Iowa Children's Hospital.

The Hawkeyes helped raise over $575,000 for the American Diabetes Association during the six-year history of the Corridor Classic in Cedar Rapids.

The following is a list of just some of the community service activities the Hawkeye baseball team has participated in throughout the Iowa City community.

Assisted in the delivery of furniture to the Hope Lodge.

Served as waiters for the Iowa Children's Museum's Crystal Ball Gala.

Helped with the set-up and tear-down for the University of Iowa's Dance Marathon.

Served as tutors at Roosevelt Elementary School through the Hawkeye Pride Initiative.

Assisted with the Iowa Children's Museum's Move It, Dig It, Do It event.

Worked at the Iowa City Neighborhood Center's Haunted House.

Took part in the University of Iowa Foundation's Thank-a-thon.

Raise money for Breast Cancer research.

Raised over $575,000 for the American Diabetes Association with the Corridor Classic.

Another addition Jack Dalton has made to the program is the annual Iowa Baseball Golf Outing, which takes place at Firmin Golf Course or a local course. The outing is a fundraiser for the Hawkeye baseball program, which gives fans a chance to talk with coaches, alumni and players. It also allows alumni an opportunity to come back to Iowa City to see teammates and support the program.

"It's great to see the former players come back and support the program," said head coach Jack Bahm. "We have a lot of players back who played under coach [Duane] Banks, coach Broghammer and myself. A lot of the alumni are excited about the direction of the program. Every program needs the support of their alumni and we want to continue to do a better job of reaching out to them and getting them involved in Iowa baseball."

The University of Iowa baseball team holds annual summer, spring and winter camps. These camps are a great opportunity for young players to enhance their skills under the personal attention of the Hawkeye baseball staff. The camps are held at Duane Banks Field and the Indoor Practice Facility on the UI campus.

In August, September and December, Iowa holds its Future Hawks Evaluation Camp, which is its biggest camp. This is a chance for campers to be evaluated in the 40 and 60-yard dash, arm strength, and in hitting, defense and pitching. College coaches from all levels work these camps.

In March and April, Iowa hosts its Spring Training Camp, which is targeted for high school athletes. Once a week, campers experience a college level practice.

Iowa also holds camps for specific groups and positions in June and December. These five different camps target specific age groups and positions.

The Pitchers and Catchers Camp and Position Players Camp are designed for high school aged athletes who would like to be evaluated. The Hawkeye coaching staff teaches proper pitching and catching mechanics and fundamentals, while position players' campers are given instruction on all areas of the game.

The Hitting Camp and Pitching Mechanics and Drills Camp are designed for players ages 9-13. Emphasis is placed on proper mechanics, pitching delivery and the basic fundamentals of hitting.

The Junior Hawks Advanced Skills Camp is typically split into two sessions; the first is designed for ages 6-10 and the second is for ages 11-13. During the camp, instruction will include all areas of the game: hitting, throwing, fielding and base running.

For exact camp schedules, visit lowabaseballcamps.com.

During the Jack Dahm era, the Hawkeyes have always taken on the best. In the 2004, 2006 and 2008 seasons, the Hawkeyes ventured into the world of professional baseball when they took on the Chicago Cubs Class AAA affiliate Iowa Cubs in exhibition games at Principal Park in Des Moines.

In 2008, Iowa battled with the AAA team, but ultimately dropped the exhibition game, 3-1. Iowa recorded four hits in the exhibition and had the tying run on base in its final at-bat.

In 2006, nearly 5,000 fans watched the Hawkeyes compete against an I-Cubs team featuring future and former major leaguers Rich Hill, Angel Guzman, Felix Pie, Ryan Theriot, Mike Fontenot and Augie Ojeda.

Over 4,000 fans in 2004 watched the Hawkeyes give the I-Cubs all they could handle before falling by only two runs.

IOWA SHOWCASED AROUND THE STATE

Throughout his nine-year tenure at Iowa, head coach Jack Dahm has tried to showcase Iowa baseball throughout the state — giving Iowa residents and players from all over the state a chance to watch the Hawkeyes. Iowa has played games in Western, Central and Eastern Iowa. From 2009-11, the team played games at Woodmen Park in Davenport. This season, the Hawkeyes will face Kansas State at Principal Park in Des Moines.

"It's a great chance to take Iowa baseball throughout the state of Iowa. We have gone to a lot of places, as far as the players and we are going to continue to do more in the future. Going to Des Moines, Cedar Rapids and Woodmen Park in the Quad Cities. It's something we enjoy, something we look forward to and want to continue."

The University of Iowa baseball team celebrated Halloween a few days early, as the Hawkeyes partook in a Halloween scrimmage on Oct. 28, 2012, at Duane Banks Field.

The scrimmage signaled the end of the fall ball season. UI head coach Jack Duhan had a message behind the event.

"I wanted the guys to remember that playing baseball is fun," said Duhan. "When we're in the midst of the season, we need to look back at this and remember that this is a game that we love to play. If we can have fun every day, we'll be a successful team."

Along with the blue, green and purple crayolas, Mario and Luigi, a giraffe penguin and cow, Duhan made an appearance as Batman.

The Hawkeye baseball program likes to kick off each season in style, and that's what they have done each of the past nine years with the Lead-Off Dinner and/or Steak Fry. It's a chance for fans to meet the current team, get a sneak preview of the upcoming season and get the opportunity to meet and hear from Major League Baseball players past and present, while raising money for the University of Iowa baseball program. Last year, over 500 Hawkeye fans attended the third-annual Steak Fry event.

The Lead-Off Dinner has featured guest speakers such as 2006 NL Manager of the Year and manager of the 2009 World Champion New York Yankees Joe Girardi, former Los Angeles Dodgers and Hall of Fame manager Tommy Lasorda, former Chicago Cubs general manager Jim Hendry, former Chicago Cub Cy Young winner Fergie Jenkins, Major League Umpire Tim McClelland, former NBC President and Pulitzer Prize winner Michael Gartner, and former Hawkeye and Atlanta Braves pitcher Wes Obermueller.

"You've got to play with your heart and love the game. You represent a great institution here, and don't do anything to embarrass it, yourself, or your family. Put that uniform on and wear it with pride, dignity and character. That's your responsibility. And when you leave this great, great university, you leave a legacy that the ones coming in will have a hard time duplicating it."

TOMMY LASORDA

There is also a chance for baseball fans to get their hands on great memorabilia in the live and silent auction at the annual Lead-Off Dinner. Past items have included autographed items from Hall of Famers Tom Seaver, Reggie Jackson and Ryne Sandberg along with Roger Clemens, Randy Johnson, Alex Rodriguez and Mark Prior; and the great baseball experiences such as a luxury suite at a Cedar Rapids Kernels game, honorary bat child during a Chicago Cubs game in the friendly confines of Wrigley Field, Chicago Cubs and Colorado Rockies "Dream Package" including tickets, accommodations and the opportunity to throw the first pitch at the game.

"The Lead-Off Dinner and Steak Fry are events the baseball program started to help generate excitement in the community. We have had anywhere from 400 to 500 people at the event. It continues to grow every year, and we are looking forward to another outstanding event this year. It is kind of a tradition for our players now; they know that once the event is here -- we are getting close to our season. It is a great lead off to the season. Not only does it bring excitement, but we have had some outstanding keynote speakers who not only have a great message for our crowd, but also for our players. We intend to continue this for years to come."

Iowa City is a media saturated environment. And with no professional teams in the area, the Hawkeyes garner extensive coverage from newspapers, television and the Internet.

RADIO

If Hawkeye baseball fans can't make it out to Buane Banks Field for a game, they are in luck because all Iowa home games and most road games, including all Big Ten contests, are broadcast on AM-800 KXIC in the Iowa City area. Brent Balbinot calls the play-by-play for the Hawkeyes.

TELEVISION

With the launch of the Big Ten Network, the Big Ten is the only conference in the country that has its own national network devoted to Big Ten athletics programming. Hawkeye baseball fans can expect to see an average of five games a year on the network in hi-definition. In addition to the Big Ten Network, the Hawkeyes have had games televised on CSTV and Mediacom.

HAWKEYESPORTS.COM

Media and fans can also obtain a wealth of up-to-date information about the Hawkeyes on the official web site of the University of Iowa -- hawkeyesports.com. Live stats (Gametracker), box scores, play-by-play, photo galleries, coach and bio information, video, podcasts and more can be found on the website. The baseball team also has its own Facebook and Twitter accounts.

Hawkeyesports.com has a fresh look after the site was re-designed and re-launched in October 2010. The new and improved site has enhanced graphics, is easier to navigate, and has more content and video/audio for the diehard Hawkeye fan.

NEWSPAPER COVERAGE

Fans can also read about Hawkeye action in several newspapers/web sites throughout the state of Iowa. A few of the papers that cover the Hawkeyes on a regular basis include: The Des Moines Register, the Iowa City Press-Citizen, the Cedar Rapids Gazette, the Quad City Times, The Daily Iowan, the Voice of The Hawkeyes, the Burlington Hawkeye, the Winterset Courier, and the Moline Dispatch.

BIGTEN

"The Big Ten Network is great for Hawkeye fans, alumni and families of our players. The network does a tremendous job producing games and also offering campus programming, and other programming that spotlights the conference and its student-athletes. The network gives the diehard Big Ten fan and place to follow the conference 24/7."

BIGTEN

NETWORK

The Big Ten Network is devoted to covering a wide array of programming to one of the premier collegiate conferences in the country. The network is the ultimate destination for Big Ten fans and alumni across the country. The network provides unmatched access to an extensive schedule of league competitions, events and shows; classic games; nightly studio shows; original programs in academics, arts and sciences and campus activities. Sports programming includes live coverage in stunning high-definition of more events than ever before, along with news, highlights and detailed analysis, all complemented by hours of university-produced campus programming. The Big Ten Network reaches 75 million homes nationwide through distribution arrangements with more than 300 cable and satellite providers.

Iowa will appear on the Big Ten Network once during the regular season during the April 26 home game against Minnesota. Four "Wild Card" games will also be televised along with the entire 2013 Big Ten Tournament. Additional games will be streamed on BTN.com. For a complete listing of Big Ten baseball games, visit video.BTN.com.

The Iowa baseball program has a long history of former athletes competing on the professional level. Over 100 Iowa players have been sent into the pro ranks. Recently, under head coach Jack Dahm, the Hawkeye baseball program has reached new heights by combining talented student-athletes with first-class facilities and superior coaching. Forty-seven of Dahm's players have been selected in the MLB Draft, while four have gone on to play in the big leagues.

In 2012, two current -- starting pitcher Matt Bernady and infielder Mike McQuillan -- and recruits Blake Hickman and Ryan Beruchi were selected in the MLB Draft. It came on the heels of the 2011 Draft where Bernady along with recruits Derrick Loveless, Sasha Kuebel and Nick Hlubing were selected. Catcher Tyson Blaser also signed a minor league contract with the New York Yankees in 2011.

In 2010, relievers Zach Robertson and Patrick Schatz were drafted, as was outfielder Kurtis Muller.

In 2009, three pitchers were drafted. Steve Turnbull signed with the Toronto Blue Jays, closer Mike Schurz was drafted to the Houston Astros and lefty Kyle Holm signed with the St. Louis Cardinals. Justin Toole later signed with the Cleveland Indians. In 2008, Caleb Curry and Kevin Hoef were each drafted. However, only Curry signed with the San Francisco Giants.

Toole gained national attention in 2012 when he played all nine positions in the same game for the Carolina Mudcats on Aug. 25. It was the first time it had happened in the minor leagues since 1994.

In 2007, Travis Sweet, Buty Napoleon and Jason White each signed professional contracts-- Sweet with the Houston Astros, Napoleon with the Oakland Athletics and White with the Baltimore Orioles. Three years ago, Tim Gudex inked with the Texas Rangers and Nate Price with the Chicago Cubs.

Two Hawkeyes were selected in the 2005 Major League Baseball Amateur Draft. Andy Lytle was taken by the Cleveland Indians, while Kris Weiler was selected by the Chicago White Sox. Another pair of Hawkeyes signed free agent contracts, with Nate Yoho joining the Milwaukee Brewers organization and Jesse Brownell getting penned by the Colorado Rockies.

In 2004, first team All-Big Ten pitcher Nate Johnson was selected by the Philadelphia Phillies in the MLB Draft.

Two Hawkeyes prolonged their 2003 baseball seasons at the professional level. Junior Kyle Thousand surrendered his final year of eligibility to pursue a professional career with the Toronto Blue Jays. The two-time All-Big Ten centerfielder was selected in the 26th round of Major League Baseball's amateur draft. Former Hawkeye MVP and right-handed pitcher Reed Pawelek signed a free-agent contract with the Florida Marlins following Iowa's 2003 season.

Four Hawkeyes were drafted by the major leagues after the 1999 season. Pitcher, Wes Obermueller was drafted in the second round by the Kansas City Royals, second baseman Brian Mitchell went in the 40th round to the Toronto Blue Jays and pitcher, Matt Sawall signed a pro contract with the New York Mets.

Obermueller started the 2002 season as a member of the Wichita Wranglers, a Double-A affiliate of the Kansas City Royals, before being promoted to the parent club and making his Major League debut Sept. 20 against the Cleveland Indians. In 2003, Obermueller was traded to the Milwaukee Brewers, where he won two games and struck out 34 hitters in 65 2/3 innings. He went 6-8 with a 5.00 ERA in 118 innings pitched in 2004 and 1-4 with a 5.26 ERA in 2005 before being traded to the Atlanta Braves in December, 2006. He spent 2007-09 playing professional in Japan.

Signed by the Tampa Bay Rays, hurler Jim Magrane set Iowa's single-season records for innings pitched (107.2) and strikeouts (110) during the 1999 season.

In 1998, Iowa infielder, Nate Freese, was drafted in the 10th round by the Chicago Cubs. He advanced to play for the Iowa Cubs, a Triple-A affiliate of the Cubs, before injuries forced him to retire.

In 1993, outfielder Du Porter was drafted by the Chicago Cubs. During the 1999 season, Porter was brought up from the minors by the Cubs, seeing action in 24 games with starts in the outfield. Porter was the opening day centerfielder for the Texas Rangers during the 2001 season. Porter was hired as the manager of the Houston Astros in 2012.

Outfielder Chris Hatcher was drafted following the 1990 season. He has been a member of many minor league organizations, compiling a .275 batting average in 953 games. During the 1998 season, Hatcher was a member of the Kansas City Royals, where he saw action in eight games. Tim Lincecum was a first-round draft pick of the Cleveland Indians in 1990 before being traded to Cincinnati. He spent the 1995 season at the Indians AAA class Buffalo team, playing in 105 games. He was also a member of the St. Louis and Toronto organizations.

Cal Eldred was a first-round draft pick by Milwaukee in 1988 and remained there until he was traded to the White Sox in 2000. In 1994, he had the honor of being the opening day pitcher, and led the American League in starts (25). Eldred made a name for himself in 1992 by going 11-2 for Milwaukee, winning 10 straight decisions. In 1993, he led the American League in innings pitched (258). After a two-year stint on the Chicago south side, Eldred signed a free-agent contract with the St. Louis Cardinals in 2003. In 2004, he was a key part of the Cardinal team that advanced to the World Series. Eldred is now the lead studio Big Ten baseball analyst for the Big Ten Network.

Mike Boddicker, a native of Norway, Iowa, earned All-Big Ten honors as a pitcher and infielder during Hawkeye career (1976-78). In 1983, he was named the American League "Rookie of the Year." After pitching in the major leagues for 11 years, Boddicker retired in 1993. He played for the Baltimore Orioles and Kansas City Royals.

Jim McAndrew was selected by the New York Mets in the 11th round of the 1965 draft. The Lost Nation, Iowa, native pitched seven seasons in the major leagues, spending six years with the Mets (1968-73) and one season with the San Diego Padres (1974). He was a member of a World Series championship team, as the Mets won the 1969 title against the Baltimore Orioles. McAndrew tallied six wins for the Mets in 1969. McAndrew ended his professional career with a 37-53 career record that included a 10-win season in 1970 and a career-best 11-win season in 1972.

DONALD W. & MARILYN HEINEKING BASEBALL SCHOLARSHIP

Don Heineking established the Donald W. and Marilyn Heineking Baseball Scholarship in 2004, with the first recipient to be named for the 2005-06 season. Don is a long-time supporter of Iowa athletics, a member of the Johnson County I-Club Board of Directors and member of the Iowa Scholarship Fund Board of Directors. In 2002, Don and Marilyn established scholarships in football and women's basketball. Then, in 2003, they added a wrestling scholarship and men's basketball manager's scholarships. Most recently, they added baseball, softball and volleyball scholarships.

Don lives in Iowa City and is a member of the President's Club at the UI Foundation. Marilyn passed away in February of 2004.

MIKE BODDICKER SCHOLARSHIP

Former Iowa standout Mike Boddicker, and his family, have established the Mike Boddicker Scholarship. The scholarship goes each year to a member of the Iowa baseball team who is in good academic standing and displays outstanding character and personality.

Boddicker, a native of Norway, Iowa, earned All-Big Ten honors as a pitcher and infielder during his Hawkeye career (1976-78). In 1983, he was named the American League "Rookie of the Year" after pitching in the major leagues for 11 years. Boddicker retired in 1993. He played for the Baltimore Orioles and Kansas City Royals.

The Mike Boddicker Scholarship was established in 1993. Pitcher Colin Matzke was the first recipient and held the scholarship all four years of his Hawkeye career. Infielder Nate Freese received the scholarship in 1997 and 1998, Iowa City native Brian Mitchell won the scholarship in 1999, and the 2000 and 2001 scholarships were awarded to outfielder Andy Jansen, a Bancroft, Iowa native. Four-year starter Ian Mattiace received the scholarship in 2002 and former Louisville Slugger Freshman All-American Reed Powell has benefited from the scholarship in 2003 and 2004. Eric Weiler was the 2005 recipient; Travis Sweet got the scholarship in 2006 and 2007. Kevin Hoef received it in 2008, Michael Jacobs earned the scholarship in 2009, Jarrod Hippen was the recipient from 2010-12 and Sasha Knebel is receiving the scholarship in 2013.

CAL ELDRED LIGHTS FUND

Cal Eldred has lit up Hawkeye baseball once again. But this time, instead of employing his expert pitching, the major-league star and his wife, Christi, made a gift to fund the installation of lights at Iowa's Duane Banks Field. The Cedar Rapids couple gave $245,000 for the installation of lights at the baseball field named after Cal Eldred's former coach.

The gift, the largest ever from a current professional athlete's family to Iowa athletics, allowed the project to be completed in September 2007. The Hawkeyes won the first night game played at Banks Field, April 10, 2002, against Northern Illinois, 11-9. The University of Iowa officially dedicated the lights Saturday, April 13, 2002.

Former Iowa Director of Athletics Bob Bowlsby hailed the Eldreds' generosity, saying, "Cal and Christi's gift shows that once a Hawkeye, always a Hawkeye. Cal has been representing Iowa well for years, first with the Milwaukee Brewers, then with the Chicago White Sox and now with the St. Louis Cardinals, all the while making us all proud. But the fact that he and Christi have remained true to their Iowa roots in this very generous way makes us even prouder."

Former Iowa baseball coach Scott Broghamer said that the Eldred's gift is another chapter in their long association with baseball in the state. "I coached Cal when he played for Urbana High School in the mid-1980's, and he and Christi have been Hawkeye supporters for years," Broghamer said. "This gift will make Iowa's field one of the finest anywhere. We're very excited and grateful."

The Eldreds cited their desire to give back to Iowa and to honor former Hawkeye coaches Banks and Broghamer—who they said are their good friends and longtime mentors—as reasons for making the gift. The gift was commemorated by a plaque at the field.

Cal Eldred, who grew up in Urbana and attended Iowa for three years before being drafted by the Milwaukee Brewers in 1989, said, "My experience at Iowa helped shape me as a player and as a person. And coach Banks has stayed involved in my life and has always been there for me. I couldn't be happier about making this gift for Hawkeye baseball. I hope others will consider helping out, however they can."

UI offers the lowest undergraduate resident tuition in the Big Ten Conference.

38 percent of UI students are from out of state.

Five Iowa graduate programs rank number one in the nation, according to America's Best Graduate Schools, produced by U.S. News & World Report. In addition, the Iowa Writer's Workshop is ranked number one in the nation by U.S. News & World Report, Writer's Digest and Poets & Writers.

With over 30,000 students in a city of roughly 75,000, UI offers a different atmosphere than many other universities in the Big Ten or the Midwest.

Building on a rich tradition of excellence and innovation, the University of Iowa is educating more than 30,000 students annually, preparing them for success immediately following graduation, as well as continued achievements throughout their lives.

The University of Iowa offers more than 100 areas of undergraduate and graduate study, including seven professional degree programs, through its 11 colleges: the colleges of Liberal Arts and Sciences, Business, Dentistry, Education, Engineering, Law, Medicine, Nursing, Pharmacy and Public Health, and the Graduate College. The University also provides on-campus and distance learning opportunities through its Division of Continuing Education.

Long recognized as one of the nation's leading centers for the writing, space physics, hydraulics, basic health and science research, and communication studies, the University of Iowa is also developing new strengths in informatics, nanotechnology, simulation technology, and other fields.

The University of Iowa has maintained its tradition as an innovator. With its pioneering work in speech pathology, science and medicine. It's also known internationally for being home of one of the nation's largest public university owned hospitals.

Cultural Diversity at the University of Iowa

The University of Iowa has worked hard to assure that students of all races, creeds, and backgrounds are represented in the student body. In the past five years, Iowa has moved aggressively towards its goal of creating communities of African American, Hispanic/Latino (a), Asian American, and Native American students, and making the University a stimulating, welcoming place.

The Center for Diversity and Enrichment is a coordinated university-wide resource for creating and maintaining this campus diversity and providing opportunities for all University students interested in other cultures. Scholarships, fellowships, and support programs help to make this possible. International Programs brings together scholars from around the world and UI students looking to expand their perspectives by studying abroad or exploring global issues on campus.

The University of Iowa is listed among "America's Best Value Colleges" in the 2008 guidebook published by The Princeton Review. Iowa is cited for its "excellent academics, generous financial aid packages and low costs".

The University of Iowa not only boasts a beautiful campus, it offers its students a broad range of academic programs, an abundance of social activities and a sense of belonging. With its combination of quality academics, mammoth resources, renowned specialty programs, and extensive research opportunities, this Midwest school is anything but traditional.

The Fiske Guide to Colleges

U.S. News & World Report, in its yearly rankings, has ranked the University of Iowa 26th among American public national universities for undergraduate education. Iowa ranks in the top 15% of some 161 public universities across the country.

In its 2009 rankings of America's Best Graduate Schools, U.S. News & World Report ranks five Iowa programs as best in the nation among public universities. Overall, UI has 23 graduate programs ranked in the top 10 nationally.

CONSIDER THE COMMUNITY

Some universities offer the large city atmosphere. Others offer the college town experience. The University of Iowa is uniquely situated to offer student athletes the very best of both of these different worlds.

Once the state capital, Iowa City is considered one of the truly great college towns in America. The city swells with excitement on game day when nearly 16,000 Hawkeye fans from across the state and Midwest converge on Carver-Hawkeye Arena to cheer the Hawkeyes to another victory.

Iowa City's downtown area is alive and thriving. Restaurants, shops and sidewalk cafes face onto pedestrian malls full of people watchers, street entertainers and food vendors.

Attractive in size and friendliness, Iowa City is big in the sense that it offers all the advantages and conveniences of much larger metropolitan areas like summer and permanent employment opportunities, live entertainment and concerts, fine dining and shopping, industry and commerce.

Iowa City is located in the heart of eastern Iowa, within easy driving distance of several major Midwestern cities including the state capital, Des Moines, as well as Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Minneapolis and Milwaukee.

Iowa City ranks as the top town in the Midwest in Midwest magazine's annual list of the "30 Best Towns in America."

"Iowa City is unlike any other place in the state, both because of its regional beauty and because of its independent, serendipitous spirit."

"There's nothing like feeling the crisp air as one tours the Big Ten campus, just as there's no other feeling like walking the shores along Lake MacBride, north of town. This is an ideal location for a weekend trip filled with sights, sounds, shopping and plenty of activities on any given weekend."

IOWA CITY: THE BEST PLACE TO LIVE

Each year, The University of Iowa boasts a student population that includes young men and women from all 50 states and more than 100 foreign countries among its 30,000 students.

Diversity is also true among the student-athletes who come to Iowa City to play basketball. At Iowa, high school all-Americans from some of the nation's biggest metropolitan areas work side-by-side with all-state picks from states in "America's Heartland" and elsewhere to help keep the Hawkeyes among the nation's best.

The record shows that Hawkeyes don't just grow up in Iowa—they come from virtually all parts of the country.

The State of Iowa ranks as the fifth best state to raise a family, according to a recent study released by the Children's Rights Council, a Washington, D.C. based organization.

According to a recent study by Forbes Magazine, Iowa City ranks third among small cities on a national list of best places to do business and advance careers.

SPORTING NEWS RANKS IOWA AMONG THE TOP DIVISION I PROGRAMS

The University of Iowa annually earns high ratings in a major survey by The Sporting News, in which all U.S. colleges who participate in NCAA Division I sports in both football and men's basketball are graded according to various standards, ranging from on-field to academic performance.

The magazine ranks over 100 universities, based on number of sports each school sponsors, their success rates, graduation rates for students in all sports and Title IX compliance. The ratings cover the last four years of graduating classes, and include GPAs and SAT scores for incoming freshmen.

The Sporting News recently ranked Iowa City as the best college football city in America. Iowa City is ranked among the top 50 cities overall among "Best Sport Cities" and ranked as the top sports community in the state.

Schools are also rated on such factors as fan support, attendance, merchandise sold and size of athletic budget. Graduation rates are used and points awarded for winning regular season and post-season championships.

"ESPN GameDay" the popular pre-game show which airs each Saturday during the college football season, made a recent stop in Iowa City, arriving from the Iowa campus prior to a prime time football game in Iowa's Kinnick Stadium.

OUTSIDE MAGAZINE RANKS UNIVERSITY OF IOWA AND IOWA CITY AMONG THE BEST IN THE NATION

Outside Magazine ranks the top 40 "Best College Towns" in the nation. Among those rankings, the University of Iowa and the Iowa City area earned a No. 10 ranking.

A CAMPUS ON THE MOVE

The University of Iowa campus caters to pedestrians and bicyclists; it's compact enough to cross in a 20-minute walk. A fine ride on a campus bike can cut that time in half. Entertainment on campus and in Iowa City caters to student budgets, with many events offered at no charge.

Iowa City has more bookstores, coffee shops, restaurants, bars, and movie theaters in its downtown area — right next to campus — than any other city in cities many times its size.

Hancher Auditorium brings the world's finest music and entertainment to the University. It is part of the Iowa Center for the Arts, which includes the Museum of Art and cultural/educational spaces for theatre, art and art history, dance, and literary arts.

The University of Iowa offers more than 400 student organizations, recreation facilities, 50 fraternities and sororities, and a broad schedule of performances, lectures, cultural celebrations and club sports. 200+ athletic contests to go along with the intercollegiate competition in the Big Ten Conference.

The University's Macbride Nature Recreation Area, located 15 miles from campus, offers hiking, cross-country skiing, sailing, and canoeing.

STUDENT-ORIENTED NIGHT LIFE

Iowa's campus is set right in the city's downtown area, where parties, clubs, movies, coffeehouses, and restaurants to suit every taste can be found any night of the week in clubs and restaurants, even on warm evenings on the downtown pedestrian mall. Iowa City is convenient and geared toward student tastes and needs.

In a recent release by a New York-based Internet company, Iowa City ranked ninth among college towns its size, based on cultural and economic vitality. The survey compared communities with four-year colleges that have a ratio of students to the general public that was 3-to-4 or lower.

"If Iowa City were a student, it would be class valedictorian. This heartland university town consistently scores top scores on countless lists: Forbes' 'Best Small Places for Business and Careers'; Men's Journal's list of sexy, healthy and safe places to live; USA Today's 'Best Educated Cities'; Wine Reader's 'Most Enlightened Towns'; AARP's best college towns in which to retire; and the Millen Institute's best small metro economy. And the town's pride, the University of Iowa, second tops on Kaplan's best value for your tuition dollar, noting its outstanding medical programs."

CONSIDER THE OPPORTUNITY FOR A QUALITY EDUCATION

A quality education is one of the highest priorities of the University of Iowa. Just over 90 percent of Johnson County residents have graduated from high school, and in Iowa City nearly half of all residents have earned bachelor's degrees. In fact, official statistics indicate Johnson County is the 10th "smartest" county in the nation, based on percentage of residents holding bachelor's degrees.

The University of Iowa represents a strong presence in the community while enhancing the quality of life in Iowa City.

Your aspiration may be a career in medicine, law, engineering, or business. Regardless of the specific career field, it's important to find the college baseball program that places a high priority on academics and allows you to take full advantage of the educational opportunities available.

At the University of Iowa, student-athletes learn quickly that academic success is the highest priority.

ATHLETICS AND ACADEMICS

At The University of Iowa, a strong relationship has been developed between athletics and academics, where basketball coaches and athletes work hand-in-hand with academic deans and professors, ensuring the student-athletes have as many possible opportunities to excel in the classroom and in athletics.

From the first visit for any prospective student-athlete, to the completion of their academic and athletic careers at Iowa, academic personnel play a large role in the career of Hawkeye student-athletes. Beginning with the on-campus visits, student-athletes are introduced to professors in their selected field of study, and are able to establish a relationship and develop an understanding of the academic setting in which they will be involved.

THE RUSSELL AND ANN GERDIN ATHLETIC LEARNING CENTER

The University of Iowa Russell and Ann Gerdin Athletic Learning Center, opened in the fall of 2003. The Learning Center is a multi-level, 20,000-square foot facility, which provides one all-purpose area for the academic pursuits for Iowa's male and female student-athletes.

The Learning Center features an auditorium, two classrooms, study lounges for freshmen and upper-class student-athletes, a computer lab, a teaching lab, the athletic library, office space for Iowa's Academic Student Services staff and a display area to recognize the academic accomplishments of Iowa's student-athletes.

"The Gerdin Athletic Learning Center offers our student-athletes at the University of Iowa the most modern, state-of-the-art academic facilities at their disposal. It is located in the heart of campus, right across from the Hillcrest dorm. When you combine our facilities with the outstanding leadership of our Academic Student Services staff our student-athletes are provided the direction and assistance needed to be very successful in their academic pursuits."

JACK DAHM
Head Baseball Coach

"The Gerdin Learning Center is a very helpful tool for us athletes. If we need extra help in a class there are study groups that we can sign up for. I have taken advantage of those study groups for multiple classes. They have everything a student-athlete needs to excel in their academic pursuits."

MATT DERMOODY
Senior

When a student-athlete considers his future, he should consider prospects beyond baseball. He should consider where he wants to be five, ten, fifteen years from today, and the best means of action for getting there. Also, he should decide early on to commit to excellence in every challenge undertaken.

Without a doubt, the stars and athletes listed here took time to consider their future and the ways to get there. When former University of Iowa undergraduates have gone on to become leaders in their chosen fields. They also proved their student status as strong as the best Hawkeyes go after a home ball is rebound.

THE HAWKEYE NICKNAME

The University of Iowa borrowed its athletic nickname from the name of Iowa many years ago. The name Hawkeye was originally the name of the hero in the fictional novel, The Last of the Mohicans, written by James Fenimore Cooper. Cooper had the Delaware Indians borrow the name on a white scout who lived with them.

In 1838, 12 years after the book was published, people in the territory of Iowa acquired the nickname, chiefly through the efforts of Judge David Rorer of Burlington and James Edwards of Fort Madison.

Edwards, editor of the Fort Madison Patriot, moved his paper to Burlington in 1843 and renamed it the Burlington Hawkeye. The two men continued their campaign to popularize the name, and territorial officials eventually gave it their formal approval.
Herby The Hawkeye

The Hawkeye nickname gained a tangible symbol in 1948 when a cartoon character, later to be named Herby the Hawkeye was hatched. The creator was Richard Spenser III, instructor of journalism at Iowa.

The Impish Hawk was an immediate hit and acquired a name through a statewide contest staged by the athletic department. John Franklin, a Belle Plaine alumnus, was the man who suggested Herby.

Since his birth more than 45 years ago, Herby has symbolized Iowa athletics and epitomized University life. He even donned a military uniform during the Korean War and became the insignia of the 124th Fighter Squadron.

During the mid-1950s, Herby came to life at a football game as the Iowa mascot. Since that time, Herby has been a familiar figure at Iowa athletics events.
